Secret Geneva Session Makes Little Headway

GENEVA (AP) — The Western powers accused the Soviet Union Monday of using East Berlin as a center for subversion. This diplomatic counterattack came during a secret Big Four session that a U.S. spokesman said, made very little progress.

The counterattack followed a charge by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko that West Berlin sheltered Western spies and saboteurs—a charge the Russians originally had used as one justification for their drive to get the Americans, British and French out of the city.

The U.S. spokesman stressed, however, that in spite of the lack of progress Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was prepared to stay in Geneva as long as there was a reasonable chance to negotiate.

Herter suspects the Soviets may wait until the eleventh hour before making any concessions.

The Big Four foreign ministers wrestled with the Berlin problem for 2½ hours behind closed doors. They failed to find the sort of common understanding that the United States regards as a vital condition for a summit conference.

Herter Has No Deadline

U. S. Asst. Secretary of State Andrew H. Berding told newsmen later that Herter has no deadline for ending the Geneva talks, but if the Soviets want a summit meeting "then a certain minimum of agreement will have to be reached."

Sources close to the French delegation said Gromyko pressed the Kremlin's demands for the evacuation of Western garrisons in West Berlin and the transformation of that divided city, 110 miles inside Communist East Germany, into a demilitarized free city.

The Western nations rejected this approach. The United States also refused to curtail or abandon RIAS, the powerful U.S. radio transmitter in West Berlin now the target of a concerted Communist attack

Gromyko has maintained that RIAS is used to foment sabotage and disorders in Communist - run Eastern Europe.

RIAS runs a German-language program of news and music with some political comments that are clearly so labeled. U.S. authorities deny RIAS attempts to incite sabotage or revolt.

Deal Must Work Both Ways

The Western powers indicated they were willing to discuss Soviet complaints that West Berlin was a spy center, but they have made it plain this cuts both ways—the Americans, British and French have complaints about activities in East Berlin they want aired.

The Western powers struck back at Soviet charges with their own accusations about "subversive activities" in East Berlin and East Germany directed against West Germany and West Berlin, Western sources said.

By doing this, informants reported, the Western powers sought to make one key point clear. Any deal the West would enter into on Berlin would have to be an eye-for-an-eye basis — any Western concessions would have to be matched by Soviet concesions.

Unable to agree on broader German and European security questions, the ministers narrowed their negotiations to consideration of the Berlin crisis and the related prospects for a summit conference.

Senate Opens Debate On Farm Spending Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Richard B. Russell said Monday that Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson apparently is determined to prove that farm price supports won't work—even if it costs 20 billion dollars to do it.

The Georgia Democrat, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Appropriations Subcommittee, levelled the charge as the Senate opened debate on a $3,975,000,000 money bill to run the Agriculture Department and related agencies in the 12 months starting July 1.

Despite the preliminary skirmishing, the real test was expected Tuesday when the senators will vote on a proposal to clamp a $50,000 ceiling on total price support payments to any one farm or farmer in any one year.

The fight against the provision will be led by Sen. John C. Stennis (D-Miss.) who failed on a 6-6 tie vote in an effort to soften the ceiling when it was approved by the Russell subcommittee.

The provision was a personal triumph for Sen. John J. Williams (R-Del.). Although not a member of the appropriations group, he has been protesting price support payments ranging as high as a million dollars to big corporate type farms.

Williams recently persuaded the Senate to adopt a $35,000 ceiling on the total of such loans for any one farm. This was tacked on as a rider to a stop-gap wheat bill now pending in the House.

Russell launched his attack on Benson with a charge that the farm price support is "all out of hand."

He added that he was inclined to believe that the agriculture secretary's "principal aim in life" was "to prove that a price support program won't work—even if it takes 20 billion dollars to prove it."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), chiding Benson for reducing price supports and at the same time eliminating production curbs on corn and other feed grains, chimed in to say the farm economy is "suffering from Benson's gout."

Strauss Draws Senator's Fire For "Perfidy"

The accusation was made by Sen. Gale McGee (D-Wyo) in a prepared Senate speech foreshadowing an expected bitter fight over the nomination in the Senate later this week.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois told newsmen he doesn't expect President Eisenhower to withdraw Strauss' nomination.

Sen. Wayne Morse (D - Ore), threatening a filibuster to prevent Strauss' confirmation, suggested last week that Eisenhower withdraw the nomination.

Strauss, now serving as secretary of commerce under a recess appointment, was approved by the Commerce Committee, but by the narrowest of margins, 9-8. The nomination is due to come up for Senate debate Thursday.

In his speech, McGee said Strauss "brazenly attempted to hoodwink" the committee during the nomination hearings earlier in the session.

The Wyoming Democrat challenged Strauss' denial that Strauss ever had seen before a letter written in 1956 by the attorney general. That letter said the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee should be consulted before any agreements were made for exchanging nuclear information with Allied nations.

McGee contended Strauss was aware of the letter in 1956.

This, the senator said, was "another of the numerous examples of Strauss' perfidy" in the hearings.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Things have a way of happening late in life for James Williams, a spry old Tampa Negro.

Williams married for the first time when he was 60, took his first drink of whisky to celebrate his 77th birthday, and now has started to school. He says he will be 105 years old on August 31.

"All I want to do is learn to read and write," he said. "By the time I get on to that I'll be ready to die, anyway."

Williams said he was born a slave in Louisville, Ky., Aug. 31, 1854.

Democratic Vote Worth $100,000 Under Will

A retired railroad engineer says it's worth $100,000 to him—that is, a straight Democratic vote.

Levi T. Whitten, 77, says he'll get that much money under terms of his brother's will if he votes Democratic.

"I won't have any trouble doing that, although I have voted Republican once or twice in my life. I do recall voting against — what was his name—Al Smith, years ago," Whitten said.

Whitten is one of several Virginians who received an inheritance from the estate of their brother, Harvey B. Whitten, who died six years ago in Sacramento, Calif. The wealthy brother was a peach grower.

Whitten said the estate, settled recently, amounted to about $500,000 after taxes and legal costs.

Another brother, the Rev. L. R. Whitten, 71, pastor of four rural Methodist churches in central Virgina, received $34,500.

The Whittens said their brother lost a fortune during the depression in the Republican administration of President Herbert Hoover. Later, when he became wealthy under Democratic administrations, Whitten drew a will leaving his money to his brothers and sisters, provied they "vote a straight Democratic ticket."

The Rev. Mr. Whitten says "If I can't honestly support the Democratic candidate, I just refrain from voting at all."

Five Men Die In Iron Mine Cave-In, Fire

IRON RIVER, Mich. (AP) — A searing flash of fire whipped like a "belch of hell" through the Sherwood Iron Mine Monday, killing five miners and burning 16 others.

One man was injured seriously. Eight required hospital care. Others were treated by private physicians.

The swirling, gaseous fire followed a cave-in deep in the mine near this Michigan Upper Peninsula town. A large stope, a room the size of a big house, collapsed with a roar. The room, which had been mined out several years ago, was walled off after miners encountered highly inflammable sulphurous slate.

The shattering rock sent clouds of noxious fumes and dust sweeping into the passageways at the 1,200-foot level. The fumes caught fire from spontaneous combustion, trapping 30 miners.

A company spokesman in Chicago, said the Sherwood was known as a lucky mine which had gone 305 working days without an accident. The last fatal accident at the mine took place in 1948 when one man was killed.

The cave-in occurred shortly after 9 a.m. Minutes later a company rescue squad donned gas masks and went down the shaft.

The rescue workers groped their way through clouds of dust and smoke to recover the dead and injured. They also helped lead to safety several miners who were temporarily blinded by dust and fumes.

Keith Sleeman was one of the first miners brought to the surface. Face blackened by dust and grime, he said he had leaped into a passageway, narrowly escaping as "belching hell" went past.

Holiday Traffic Death Toll 310, Setting Record

By The Associated Press

Drownings claimed 101 lives and miscellaneous violence took 49 more for an overall accident toll of 458, also a record.

The 54-hour holiday toll of fatalities resulting from motor vehicle crashes far exceeded the National Safety Council's (NSC) preholiday estimate of 260.

Terming the heavy toll of traffic deaths tragic and shocking, the NSC said it offers a grim challenge to everyone concerned with highway safety to step up the unending efforts to hold down accidents despite steadily mounting travel.

The number of traffic deaths topped the previous record of 241 for a two-day Memorial Holiday set in 1953. The over-all death count, too, was a record, topping the 385 for the 1953 weekend.

The count of deaths resulting from traffic, drownings and miscellaneous causes commenced at 6 p.m. (local time) Friday and continued to midnight Sunday.

A similar 54-hour survey by The Associated Press for the nonholiday period from Friday, May 15, to midnight Sunday, May 17, showed 262 deaths in traffic, 32 drownings and 74 from miscellaneous causes.

The Memorial Day holiday in 1957 was a four-day weekend. That year there were 413 traffic deaths and an over-all total of 660, both records for a four-day Memorial holiday.

Fired Interior Employe Wins His Court Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled 5-4 Monday that the Interior Department erred twice in firing an employe, first as a security risk and later without giving any reason.

The ruling means that William Vincent Vitarelli, an educator, stands to collect about $30,000 in back pay. From this amount will be deducted whatever he has received in other jobs since 1954.

Vitarelli was first discharged in 1954 while working as an education and training specialist on the Pacific island of Koror. He was accused of having Communist affiliations. He denied the charge.

After the Supreme Court ruled in another case that government employes holding nonsensitive jobs could not be fired summarily as security risks, the Interior Department withdrew the security risk findings against Vitarelli. But then the department fired him again, and Vitarelli began a court fight for reinstatement.

In other actions the court:

1. Agreed to rule on whether strike benefits paid to union workers are subject to federal income tax. The decision, when it comes, will apply to many thousands of taxpayers who receive billions of dollars in such benefits annually.

The case the court agreed to rule on involves only $108. It was brought by Allen Kaiser, former employe of the Kohler Co., of Kohler, Wis.

2. Refused to review a $400,000-damage award won by a Tennessee coal company because of violence and other allegedly unlawful conduct in a 1948 union organization effort. Meadow Creek Coal Co., Inc., won the award against John L. Lewis's United Mine Workers in U.S. District Court in Nashville. The company had sued for 1¼ million dollars in damages.

3. Refused to rule for the present on an appeal by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People from a $25,000 contempt fine imposed by a Georgia court for alleged failure to produce records for state income tax purposes. The state contended that no fine has been finally determined and assessed.

Mental Patient Who Slew Parents Nabbed

EL RENO, Okla. (AP) — State troopers Monday captured a mental patient on leave who admitted he beat his parents to death.

"I guess I'll go to the electric chair," said Clark Brillhart, 22, after his capture nine miles south of here on U.S. Highway 81. "I don't know why I did it."

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Brillhart were killed Sunday with a crowbar in their farm home near Hobart, Okla. The mother was one of Oklahoma's best known religious writers and was widely known for her work promoting mental health.

Lt. Gene Frusher, one of two troopers who caught Brillhart, said the youth told him he had been driving around in the family car — in Oklahoma City, 30 miles east of here, and over southwestern Oklahoma. Brillhart offered no resistance.

Ike-Beman Golf Match Butler Aim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md) said Monday he will try to arrange a golf match between President Eisenhower and the new British amateur champion, Deane Beman of nearby Silver Spring, Md.

Butler told the Senate he had noted that Beman, after winning his title Saturday, had expressed the hope he would play with "the world's best known golfer, President Eisenhower."

Earlier, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters Eisenhower was delighted that Beman had won the title.

Hagerty, however, would not comment on Beman's hope to play with the President.

Segregationist Leader Blasts "3 Little Pigs"

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A Miami segregation leader levelled a blast at "The Three Little Pigs" Monday and said he was trying to get the Florida Legislature to wipe it off the state's bookshelves.

Hawthorn said that in his opinion the pig story was "much worse than the rabbit story" which has come under attack in Alabama because it pictured the black pig as superior.

He displayed a copy of the book which showed on its cover a white pig, a black pig, and a white and black pig dancing a jig.

As Hawthorn interprets it, it's the white pig and the black and white who are eaten by the big bad wolf. That leaves the black pig who had fashioned his house out of brick.

But Hawthorn has gotten the brushoff from Legislators in his efforts to get a bill introduced to ban the book from schools and libraries.

Deadlocked Steel Talks Slated To Resume Today

NEW YORK (UPI)—The deadlocked steel wage negotiations will be resumed Tuesday after a six-day recess amid rumors the United Steelworkers Union may call its key Wage Policy Committee to New York for a strategy meeting.

David J. McDonald, president of the union, is reported ready to call the 171-man committee into session to report on the serious impasse which threatens to trigger the sixth postwar steel strike this summer.

Such a meeting with the committee, which has the power to accept or reject any contract, would give the union chief an opportunity to bolster any move to file formal charges accusing the steel companies of failure to bargain in good faith.

McDonald said last week he was considering filing such charges with the National Labor Relations Board.

The joint talks between four-man teams representing the union and 12 steel companies have come dangerously close to collapsing a full month before the July 1 strike deadline.

The steel companies have demanded a one - year contract freeze and elimination of the cost-of-living escalator clause from the present agreement, which expires at midnight June 30.

The union has rejected this "offer" as economic nonsense and has demanded "a substantial" wage increase, an average 38-hour work week, complete company financing of insurance, hospitalization and medical plans and other fringe improvements.

Doctor Hints La. Gov. Long Resisting Care

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A medical spokesman said physicians seek to determine "what specific psychiatric problem, if any" is troubling Louisiana Gov. Earl K. Long.

In obviously guarded statements, Dr. John B. Truslow said Monday, "every attempt is being made to achieve his cooperation with continuing studies." The statement indicated without specifically saying so that the governor is resisting care.

"We know the eyes of the country are on us, so we are making every human effort to arrive at a diagnosis as soon as possible," Dr. Truslow said.

"This isn't just an ordinary case — we all know that," he added.

The governor flew here Saturday from Louisiana's Capitol of Baton Rouge and was placed in the hospital's psychiatric clinic under care of Dr. Titus Harris, internationally known psychiatrist.

Dr. Truslow said that for a time the governor will continue to have around-the-clock nursing care, regular meals, and omission of medicines.

The doctor told newsmen "there has been no violence." However the Galveston News quoted what it considers reliable sources as saying the governor underwent two violent outbursts Sunday. The news said two male nurses were on duty.

In store for Long are detailed physical and mental checkups, Dr. Truslow said.

The hospital, integrated with the Texas medical school of which Dr. Truslow is executive director, is noted for getting psychiatric patients back at work as quickly as possible.

The doctor said, "The extra nurses were put on duty because of the importance of the man and as a precaution." He said the family requested the extra care.

British Chief Spikes Report Removal Near

Secretary Has Prime Minister's Full Confidence

GENEVA (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan cabled Selwyn Lloyd Monday that he does not contemplate Lloyd's removal from his post as Britain's foreign secretary.

Macmillan sent his message in the wake of a newspaper report suggesting that Lloyd's days as foreign secretary are numbered.

The report in the usually authoritative London Times indicated that Macmillan had told Lloyd the time is near for him to step out of the burdensome office.

Qualified officials reported that Macmillan's message reached Lloyd late Monday afternoon.

In London Macmillan said he was astounded that the reports should ever have appeared.

A spokesman at 10 Downing St., the Prime Minister's official residence, said:

"The Prime Minister learned immediately of the furor these reports had created in Geneva. It was thought necessary to show that they do not stand examination."

Lloyd Frequent Target

While the full text of Macmillan's message was not made known it was no secret that its general tone was one of astonishment mingled with resignation at a recurrence of sniping at Lloyd.

Lloyd, 54, has been a frequent target for the press and for all parties - including his own - since Britain's Suez adventure with the French in 1956.

However, it was understood Macmillan assured Lloyd he was not behind the report that appeared in the London Times.

The message was said to emphasize that Macmillan has full confidence in Lloyd as foreign secretary.

The London Times report earlier had started a buzz of speculation among diplomats and newsmen alike about the political fate of the man who is conducting Britain's role as conciliator between East and West at the Geneva Big Four conference.

The Times report had called into question the British delegation's entire position.

Secretary Astonished

It led authorized members of the British delegation swiftly to insist that no change of British policy is contemplated, and that no chance exists of Lloyd leaving control of the Foreign Office before the next general election, that no word has reached here officially of Lloyd's impending transfer to another Cabinet post.

Lloyd himself was understood to have read the Times report with as much astonishment and resentment as the 90-odd members of the British delegation.

If Lloyd and his fellow-Britons were astonished, American, French, Soviet and German officials seemed stunned by what the Times had to say at this crucial point in the East-West negotiations.

The dispatch, by the paper's political correspondent, was couched in the sort of phrases that Macmillan could be expected to use in gently, yet firmly, firing a favorite subordinate.

"A prime minister must not ask too much from his ministerial galley slaves," the report said. "In the foreign secretary's own interests, and for the sake of the service he still can give to the country and his party, a reasonable term must be set to the carrying of the burden."

White House Denies Lewis' Steel Charge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House Monday denied a charge by union leader John L. Lewis that President Eisenhower has thrown his prestige and influence on the side of management in the current steel wage negotiations.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers Union, said in a television interview Sunday that the President had departed from his six-year policy to take a stand "against the workers in the steel industry."

Asked if the White House had any comment on the Lewis statement, presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty replied: "No, other than to say it isn't so."

He also referred newsmen to the President's repeated appeals to the industry and the Steelworkers' union to avoid any settlement that would add to inflationary pressures.

Five Men Die In Iron Mine Cave-In, Fire

IRON RIVER, Mich. (AP) — A searing flash of fire whipped like a "belch of hell" through the Sherwood Iron Mine Monday, killing five miners and burning 16 others.

One man was injured seriously. Eight required hospital care. Others were treated by private physicians.

The swirling, gaseous fire followed a cave-in deep in the mine near this Michigan Upper Peninsula town. A large stope, a room the size of a big house, collapsed with a roar. The room, which had been mined out several years ago, was walled off after miners encountered highly inflammable sulphurous slate.

The shattering rock sent clouds of noxious fumes and dust sweeping into the passageways at the 1,200-foot level. The fumes caught fire from spontaneous combustion, trapping 30 miners.

A company spokesman in Chicago, said the Sherwood was known as a lucky mine which had gone 305 working days without an accident. The last fatal accident at the mine took place in 1948 when one man was killed.

The cave-in occurred shortly after 9 a.m. Minutes later a company rescue squad donned gas masks and went down the shaft.

The rescue workers groped their way through clouds of dust and smoke to recover the dead and injured. They also helped lead to safety several miners who were temporarily blinded by dust and fumes.

Keith Sleeman was one of the first miners brought to the surface. Face blackened by dust and grime, he said he had leaped into a passageway, narrowly escaping as "belching hell" went past.

Holiday Traffic Death Toll 310, Setting Record

By The Associated Press

Drownings claimed 101 lives and miscellaneous violence took 49 more for an overall accident toll of 458, also a record.

The 54-hour holiday toll of fatalities resulting from motor vehicle crashes far exceeded the National Safety Council's (NSC) preholiday estimate of 260.

Terming the heavy toll of traffic deaths tragic and shocking, the NSC said it offers a grim challenge to everyone concerned with highway safety to step up the unending efforts to hold down accidents despite steadily mounting travel.

The number of traffic deaths topped the previous record of 241 for a two-day Memorial Holiday set in 1953. The over-all death count, too, was a record, topping the 385 for the 1953 weekend.

The count of deaths resulting from traffic, drownings and miscellaneous causes commenced at 6 p.m. (local time) Friday and continued to midnight Sunday.

A similar 54-hour survey by The Associated Press for the nonholiday period from Friday, May 15, to midnight Sunday, May 17, showed 262 deaths in traffic, 32 drownings and 74 from miscellaneous causes.

The Memorial Day holiday in 1957 was a four-day weekend. That year there were 413 traffic deaths and an over-all total of 660, both records for a four-day Memorial holiday.

Fired Interior Employe Wins His Court Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled 5-4 Monday that the Interior Department erred twice in firing an employe, first as a security risk and later without giving any reason.

The ruling means that William Vincent Vitarelli, an educator, stands to collect about $30,000 in back pay. From this amount will be deducted whatever he has received in other jobs since 1954.

Vitarelli was first discharged in 1954 while working as an education and training specialist on the Pacific island of Koror. He was accused of having Communist affiliations. He denied the charge.

After the Supreme Court ruled in another case that government employes holding nonsensitive jobs could not be fired summarily as security risks, the Interior Department withdrew the security risk findings against Vitarelli. But then the department fired him again, and Vitarelli began a court fight for reinstatement.

In other actions the court:

1. Agreed to rule on whether strike benefits paid to union workers are subject to federal income tax. The decision, when it comes, will apply to many thousands of taxpayers who receive billions of dollars in such benefits annually.

The case the court agreed to rule on involves only $108. It was brought by Allen Kaiser, former employe of the Kohler Co., of Kohler, Wis.

2. Refused to review a $400,000 damage award won by a Tennessee coal company because of violence and other allegedly unlawful conduct in a 1948 union organization effort. Meadow Creek Coal Co., Inc., won the award against John L. Lewis's United Mine Workers in U.S. District Court in Nashville. The company had sued for 1¼ million dollars in damages.

3. Refused to rule for the present on an appeal by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People from a $25,000 contempt fine imposed by a Georgia court for alleged failure to produce records for state income tax purposes. The state contended that no fine has been finally determined and assessed.

Mental Patient Who Slew Parents Nabbed

EL RENO, Okla. (AP) — State troopers Monday captured a mental patient on leave who admitted he beat his parents to death.

"I guess I'll go to the electric chair," said Clark Brillhart, 22, after his capture nine miles south of here on U.S. Highway 81. "I don't know why I did it."

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Brillhart were killed Sunday with a crowbar in their farm home near Hobart, Okla. The mother was one of Oklahoma's best known religious writers and was widely known for her work promoting mental health.

Lt. Gene Frusher, one of two troopers who caught Brillhart, said the youth told him he had been driving around in the family car — in Oklahoma City, 30 miles east of here, and over southwestern Oklahoma. Brillhart offered no resistance.

Ike-Beman Golf Match Butler Aim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md) said Monday he will try to arrange a golf match between President Eisenhower and the new British amateur champion, Deane Beman of nearby Silver Spring, Md.

Butler told the Senate he had noted that Beman, after winning his title Saturday, had expressed the hope he would play with "the world's best known golfer, President Eisenhower."

Earlier, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters Eisenhower was delighted that Beman had won the title.

Hagerty, however, would not comment on Beman's hope to play with the President.

Segregationist Leader Blasts "3 Little Pigs"

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A Miami segregation leader levelled a blast at "The Three Little Pigs" Monday and said he was trying to get the Florida Legislature to wipe it off the state's bookshelves.

Hawthorn said that in his opinion the pig story was "much worse than the rabbit story" which has come under attack in Alabama because it pictured the black pig as superior.

He displayed a copy of the book which showed on its cover a white pig, a black pig, and a white and black pig dancing a jig.

As Hawthorn interprets it, it's the white pig and the black and white who are eaten by the big bad wolf. That leaves the black pig who had fashioned his house out of brick.

But Hawthorn has gotten the brushoff from Legislators in his efforts to get a bill introduced to ban the book from schools and libraries.

Deadlocked Steel Talks Slated To Resume Today

NEW YORK (UPI)—The deadlocked steel wage negotiations will be resumed Tuesday after a six-day recess amid rumors the United Steelworkers Union may call its key Wage Policy Committee to New York for a strategy meeting.

David J. McDonald, president of the union, is reported ready to call the 171-man committee into session to report on the serious impasse which threatens to trigger the sixth postwar steel strike this summer.

Such a meeting with the committee, which has the power to accept or reject any contract, would give the union chief an opportunity to bolster any move to file formal charges accusing the steel companies of failure to bargain in good faith.

McDonald said last week he was considering filing such charges with the National Labor Relations Board.

The joint talks between four-man teams representing the union and 12 steel companies have come dangerously close to collapsing a full month before the July 1 strike deadline.

The steel companies have demanded a one-year contract freeze and elimination of the cost-of-living escalator clause from the present agreement, which expires at midnight June 30.

The union has rejected this "offer" as economic nonsense and has demanded "a substantial" wage increase, an average 38-hour work week, complete company financing of insurance, hospitalization and medical plans and other fringe improvements.

Doctor Hints La. Gov. Long Resisting Care

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A medical spokesman said physicians seek to determine "what specific psychiatric problem, if any" is troubling Louisiana Gov. Earl K. Long.

In obviously guarded statements, Dr. John B. Truslow said Monday, "every attempt is being made to achieve his cooperation with continuing studies." The statement indicated without specifically saying so that the governor is resisting care.

"We know the eyes of the country are on us, so we are making every human effort to arrive at a diagnosis as soon as possible," Dr. Truslow said.

"This isn't just an ordinary case — we all know that," he added.

The governor flew here Saturday from Louisiana's Capitol of Baton Rouge and was placed in the hospital's psychiatric clinic under care of Dr. Titus Harris, internationally known psychiatrist.

Dr. Truslow said that for a time the governor will continue to have around-the-clock nursing care, regular meals, and omission of medicines.

The doctor told newsmen "there has been no violence." However the Galveston News quoted what it considers reliable sources as saying the governor underwent two violent outbursts Sunday. The news said two male nurses were on duty.

In store for Long are detailed physical and mental checkups, Dr. Truslow said.

The hospital, integrated with the Texas medical school of which Dr. Truslow is executive director, is noted for getting psychiatric patients back at work as quickly as possible.

The doctor said, "The extra nurses were put on duty because of the importance of the man and as a precaution." He said the family requested the extra care.

British Chief Spikes Report Removal Near

Secretary Has Prime Minister's Full Confidence

GENEVA (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan cabled Selwyn Lloyd Monday that he does not contemplate Lloyd's removal from his post as Britain's foreign secretary.

Macmillan sent his message in the wake of a newspaper report suggesting that Lloyd's days as foreign secretary are numbered.

The report in the usually authoritative London Times indicated that Macmillan had told Lloyd the time is near for him to step out of the burdensome office.

Qualified officials reported that Macmillan's message reached Lloyd late Monday afternoon.

In London Macmillan said he was astounded that the reports should ever have appeared.

A spokesman at 10 Downing St., the Prime Minister's official residence, said:

"The Prime Minister learned immediately of the furor these reports had created in Geneva. It was thought necessary to show that they do not stand examination."

Lloyd Frequent Target

While the full text of Macmillan's message was not made known it was no secret that its general tone was one of astonishment mingled with resignation at a recurrence of sniping at Lloyd.

Lloyd, 54, has been a frequent target for the press and for all parties - including his own - since Britain's Suez adventure with the French in 1956.

However, it was understood Macmillan assured Lloyd he was not behind the report that appeared in the London Times.

The message was said to emphasize that Macmillan has full confidence in Lloyd as foreign secretary.

The London Times report earlier had started a buzz of speculation among diplomats and newsmen alike about the political fate of the man who is conducting Britain's role as conciliator between East and West at the Geneva Big Four conference.

The Times report had called into question the British delegation's entire position.

Secretary Astonished

It led authorized members of the British delegation swiftly to insist that no change of British policy is contemplated, and that no chance exists of Lloyd leaving control of the Foreign Office before the next general election, that no word has reached here officially of Lloyd's impending transfer to another Cabinet post.

Lloyd himself was understood to have read the Times report with as much astonishment and resentment as the 90-odd members of the British delegation.

If Lloyd and his fellow-Britons were astonished, American, French, Soviet and German officials seemed stunned by what the Times had to say at this crucial point in the East-West negotiations.

The dispatch, by the paper's political correspondent, was couched in the sort of phrases that Macmillan could be expected to use in gently, yet firmly, firing a favorite subordinate.

"A prime minister must not ask too much from his ministerial galley slaves," the report said. "In the foreign secretary's own interests, and for the sake of the service he still can give to the country and his party, a reasonable term must be set to the carrying of the burden."

White House Denies Lewis' Steel Charge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House Monday denied a charge by union leader John L. Lewis that President Eisenhower has thrown his prestige and influence on the side of management in the current steel wage negotiations.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers Union, said in a television interview Sunday that the President had departed from his six-year policy to take a stand "against the workers in the steel industry."

Asked if the White House had any comment on the Lewis statement, presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty replied: "No, other than to say it isn't so."

He also referred newsmen to the President's repeated appeals to the industry and the Steelworkers' union to avoid any settlement that would add to inflationary pressures.

Two-Year Excise Tax Extension Considered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Key House Democratic tax experts are considering pushing through a two-year extension of high war-time tax rates on corporations, cigarets, liquor, beer, wine and automobiles, it was learned Monday.

President Eisenhower has asked Congress to extend the taxes for another year. Under present law, they are scheduled to fall to lower levels on July 1, which would mean an annual loss of two billion dollars to the Treasury.

That would be a body blow to the President's precariously balanced budget for next year.

Key Democrats on the tax-writing House Ways & Means Committee believed Eisenhower would go along with a two-year extension of the high rates, which were imposed during the Korean war. In the past, Congress has extended the rates on a year-to-year basis.

Some Democrats were sure that neither Eisenhower nor Congress would agree to let the high rates lapse next year. Therefore, they said, Congress might as well write a two-year extension now.

The Democrats must make up their minds soon whether to push for the two-year extension. The legislation must be passed by midnight June 30 to avoid a temporary loss of excise tax revenue.

The Ways & Means Committee, which initiates all tax legislation, is expected to approve an extension bill within the next week or two and rush it through the House.

A decision to push for more than a one-year extension would run into sharp opposition from the automobile industry, which wants Congress to allow the temporary 10 per cent excise tax on automobiles to drop back to the permanent 7 per cent rate.

But the industry was unable to prevent another extension of the temporary tax last year, even though it was suffering from a sales slump which resulted in heavy lay-offs.

Extension of the temporary rates would keep the tax on corporation income at 52 per cent, instead of allowing it to drop back to the permanent 47 per cent rate.

Bicentennial Festival Opens At Pittsburgh

Spreading out from the Indian village and atomic exhibit are hundreds of displays and amusements recalling highlights of the 200 years in which Pittsburgh grew from a military fort to an industrial center.

The city, many of its industries, civil groups and citizens, have joined forces to throw a mammoth birthday party that will run through Sept. 12. The invitation to join in the fun is worldwide.

The celebration also will include several championship sporting events, musical premieres, special religious events, a historical drama that has been in preparation two years, and a parade that is expected to attract a million spectators.

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP)—Municipal elections will be held in five Eastern Panhandle towns Tuesday, with the mayoralty contest in nearby Ranson shaping up as the most wide-open.

At Harpers Ferry, Mayor William F. Ramey Jr. and Recorder Wilbur F. Bond are unopposed, but the Councilmanic race finds eight candidates for the five posts.

Incumbent Mayor John H.Kesler and former mayor Robert C. Fawver will seek the top spot in the Paw Paw election. James B. Brown is unopposed for recorder, while voters will select five councilmen from eight candidates on the ballot.

Communications Satellites Planned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal space agency hopes to launch a communications satellite in December that would provide a new radio link between the East and West coasts, officials said Monday.

The sphere would be the first of a series of satellites designed to serve as permanent relay points in space for carrying radio messages, telephone calls and television programs around the world.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) said the first such satellite would be an inflated sphere 100 feet in diameter which could be used to bounce radio messages between the U.S. seacoasts.

Byrd Elected Chairman Of Fisheries Commission

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A new Tidewater Fisheries Commission took office Monday, elected Dr. H. C. Byrd as chairman and expressed a desire to get right to work on a program to rehabilitate the state's seafood industry.

The five-member commission, created by Gov. Tawes and the Legislature to replace the present three-member commission, met behind closed doors for three hours at its first get-together.

It then announced that Dr.Byrd, former president of the University of Maryland, would be chairman and also serve as acting director of the Tidewater Fisheries Department until a full-time administrative officer could be located.

Until Monday the two jobs have been combined. John P. Tawes—a Republican appointee of former Gov. McKeldin — had held both of them and had two years left on his term. He went out of office officially Sunday night, although he was on hand Monday to show the new, all-Democrat commission its way around the department.

Dr. Byrd said no plans had been made for retaining Tawes in the department.

Taking office with the 70-year-old former university president were former Salisbury Mayor Jeremiah Valliant, elected vice chairman; Dr. George J. Weems of Calvert County, named secretary to the commission; Del. John McNulty (D-Anne Arundel) and former Del. Albert I. Baker of Queen Annes County.

One of the group's first official acts was to express itself unanimously opposed to the wearing of sidearms by TFC inspectors except in cases of emergency.

Dr. Byrd said an investigation would be made to determine whether they could not be put aside or kept in boats. It was indicated that public objections to the TFC inspectors wearing arms into packing houses and other public places prompted the action.

Dr. Byrd said he had agreed to serve as acting department director without pay until a full-time director can be located. "We want a good man for this job and we're willing to pay whatever is necessary to get one," he said.

Both the chairman of the commission and the director are appointed subject to approval of the governor. Gov. Tawes was in Europe when the group organized Monday but there was no doubt he would approve its choice.

The commission apparently spent much of its three-hour session discussing administrative problems and problems of the seafood industry in general.

Dr. Byrd said the group would begin work immediately on development of a program aimed at rehabilitation of the seafood industry and said it would meet in various localities to obtain local views.

The group plans to meet here again June 10 and will hold a public hearing at the Kent County Courthouse at 2 p. m. June 15 on regulations to govern the new soft shell clam industry there.

Starkweather Appeal Hearing Thursday

The bandy-legged killer's appeal to the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals will be heard Thursday in Omaha. Starkweather, who killed 11 persons in a two-state murder spree, has exhausted all legal processes in the state of Nebraska.

His appeal was filed through his parents from a federal court order, which denied him a writ of habeas corpus.

Feud Dampens Homecoming Of Baudouin

BRUSSELS (UPI)— Young King Baudouin returned from his goodwill tour of the United States Monday and stepped into the middle of a controversy between angry government officials and his father, ex-King Leopold.

An estimated one million cheering Belgians lined a 15-mile parade route to hail the 29-year-old bachelor king to offset a prickly official airport reception.

Enthusiastic Belgians shouting "vive le roi" (long live the king) and weeping for joy turned the homecoming from a routine royal ceremony into what was perhaps that greatest such display of rejoicing since the end of the World War II German occupation.

The king had emerged from his airliner at Brussels Airport before two separate knots of royal and government greeters standing 50 yards apart.

Leopold, whose decision to go to the aiport to welcome his son clearly angered and embarrassed Premier Gaston Eyskens, strode toward Baudouin with a smile.

Weather Outlook For Next 30 Days

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Weather Bureau said Monday its 30-day outlook for June calls for temperatures to average above seasonal normals over the northeastern quarter of the nation and also over the Middle Mississippi Valley area.

The bureau added:

"Below normal averages are expected over the western third of the country, except for near normal along the West Coast and northern border states. Near normal temperatures are indicated for unspecified areas, although some cooler than normal weather is predicted for the south Atlantic states.

"Precipitation is expected to be subnormal from the central Great Lakes and Ohio Valley eastward to the Atlantic Coast and also over the far Southwest. Above normal rainfall is predicted for the Gulf and south Atlantic states, as well as over the central Rocky Mountain states and much of the Great Plains. In other areas about normal amounts are in prospect."

Mansfield Raps Aid Plan Critics

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Whip Mike Mansfield fired back Monday at critics of his plan to overhaul the foreign aid program, declaring that President Eisenhower's $3,900,000,000 aid request is not "sacrosanct."

The Montana Democrat, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, renewed his proposal to end all foreign aid gifts in three years. Mansfield said the United States cannot "spend away" world problems.

He made the remarks in a Senate speech replying to criticism of his proposals by acting Director Leonard J. Saccio of the International Cooperation Administration (ICA), which administers the aid program.

Saccio told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee two weeks ago that Mansfield's proposals to revamp the aid program might "shatter" current loan arrangements without adding anything to foreign aid efficiency.

Mansfield said Saccio's testimony was an "impassioned insistence" that no changes be made in the way the executive branch proposes to "dispense almost four billion dollars in public funds."

He said a re-casting of the program should be undertaken to gain a greater measure of acceptance of it by Americans, as well as among recipient nations, and to make it more "useful and effective."

He said many senators who have opposed foreign aid in recent years would support it if they were assured of "a degree of stability in its operations."

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Bobby Fischer, the U.S. champion from New York, Monday was held to a draw by Gedeon Barcza of Hungary after 96 moves in their twice adjourned match in an International Chess Tournament.

Fischer dropped into second place, a half point behind Russian grand master Mikhail Tal who has 8½ points.

West Virginia Towns To Hold Elections Today

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP) —Municipal elections will be held in five Eastern Panhandle towns Tuesday, with the mayoralty contest in nearby Ranson shaping up as the most wide-open.

Five candidates are seeking to succeed Ranson Mayor William F. Whittington who is not seeking re-election.

Millard C. Trussell, who served as mayor a number of years until resigning several years ago, and John F. Hough, a present member of the Town Council, will be joined in the race by political newcomers J.Keller Lance Jr., James J. Mangrum and Dustin S. Graham. There are eight candidates for five councilmanic posts.

Mayor C. E. Garten, the incumbent in the Jefferson County town of Bolivar, will have opposition for the first time in several years from Robert B. Menefee. Town recorder J. R. Dunn has no opposition, while six candidates are running for the five council seats.

At Harpers Ferry, Mayor William F. Ramey Jr. and Recorder Wilbur F. Bond are unopposed, but the Councilmanic race finds eight candidates for the five posts.

Incumbent Mayor John H.Kesler and former mayor Robert C. Fawver will seek the top spot in the Paw Paw election. James B. Brown is unopposed for recorder, while voters will select five councilmen from eight candidates on the ballot.

L. F. Heiner, a former mayor, will be the only candidate for the top office at Berkeley Springs. Also unopposed is Gracen B. Heare, the incumbent recorder. Five councilmen will be elected from the six candidates for office.

Communications Satellites Planned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal space agency hopes to launch a communications satellite in December that would provide a new radio link between the East and West coasts, officials said Monday.

The sphere would be the first of a series of satellites designed to serve as permanent relay points in space for carrying radio messages, telephone calls and television programs around the world.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) said the first such satellite would be an inflated sphere 100 feet in diameter which could be used to bounce radio messages between the U.S. seacoasts.

Byrd Elected Chairman Of Fisheries Commission

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A new Tidewater Fisheries Commission took office Monday, elected Dr. H. C. Byrd as chairman and expressed a desire to get right to work on a program to rehabilitate the state's seafood industry.

The five-member commission, created by Gov. Tawes and the Legislature to replace the present three-member commission, met behind closed doors for three hours at its first get-together.

It then announced that Dr.Byrd, former president of the University of Maryland, would be chairman and also serve as acting director of the Tidewater Fisheries Department until a full-time administrative officer could be located.

Until Monday the two jobs have been combined. John P. Tawes—a Republican appointee of former Gov. McKeldin — had held both of them and had two years left on his term. He went out of office officially Sunday night, although he was on hand Monday to show the new, all-Democrat commission its way around the department.

Dr. Byrd said no plans had been made for retaining Tawes in the department.

Taking office with the 70-year-old former university president were former Salisbury Mayor Jeremiah Valliant, elected vice chairman; Dr. George J. Weems of Calvert County, named secretary to the commission; Del. John McNulty (D-Anne Arundel) and former Del. Albert I. Baker of Queen Annes County.

One of the group's first official acts was to express itself unanimously opposed to the wearing of sidearms by TFC inspectors except in cases of emergency.

Dr. Byrd said an investigation would be made to determine whether they could not be put aside or kept in boats. It was indicated that public objections to the TFC inspectors wearing arms into packing houses and other public places prompted the action.

Dr. Byrd said he had agreed to serve as acting department director without pay until a full-time director can be located. "We want a good man for this job and we're willing to pay whatever is necessary to get one," he said.

Both the chairman of the commission and the director are appointed subject to approval of the governor. Gov. Tawes was in Europe when the group organized Monday but there was no doubt he would approve its choice.

The commission apparently spent much of its three-hour session discussing administrative problems and problems of the seafood industry in general.

Dr. Byrd said the group would begin work immediately on development of a program aimed at rehabilitation of the seafood industry and said it would meet in various localities to obtain local views.

The group plans to meet here again June 10 and will hold a public hearing at the Kent County Courthouse at 2 p. m. June 15 on regulations to govern the new soft shell clam industry there.

Starkweather Appeal Hearing Thursday

The bandy-legged killer's appeal to the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals will be heard Thursday in Omaha. Starkweather, who killed 11 persons in a two-state murder spree, has exhausted all legal processes in the state of Nebraska.

His appeal was filed through his parents from a federal court order, which denied him a writ of habeas corpus.

Mansfield Raps Aid Plan Critics

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Whip Mike Mansfield fired back Monday at critics of his plan to overhaul the foreign aid program, declaring that President Eisenhower's $3,900,000,000 aid request is not "sacrosanct."

The Montana Democrat, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, renewed his proposal to end all foreign aid gifts in three years. Mansfield said the United States cannot "spend away" world problems.

He made the remarks in a Senate speech replying to criticism of his proposals by acting Director Leonard J. Saccio of the International Cooperation Administration (ICA), which administers the aid program.

Saccio told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee two weeks ago that Mansfield's proposals to revamp the aid program might "shatter" current loan arrangements without adding anything to foreign aid efficiency.

Mansfield said Saccio's testimony was an "impassioned insistence" that no changes be made in the way the executive branch proposes to "dispense almost four billion dollars in public funds."

He said a re-casting of the program should be undertaken to gain a greater measure of acceptance of it by Americans, as well as among recipient nations, and to make it more "useful and effective."

He said many senators who have opposed foreign aid in recent years would support it if they were assured of "a degree of stability in its operations."

Feud Dampens Homecoming Of Baudouin

BRUSSELS (UPI)— Young King Baudouin returned from his good-will tour of the United States Monday and stepped into the middle of a controversy between angry government officials and his father, ex-King Leopold.

An estimated one million cheering Belgians lined a 15-mile parade route to hail the 29-year-old bachelor king to offset a prickly official airport reception.

Enthusiastic Belgians shouting "vive le roi" (long live the king) and weeping for joy turned the homecoming from a routine royal ceremony into what was perhaps that greatest such display of rejoicing since the end of the World War II German occupation.

The king had emerged from his airliner at Brussels Airport before two separate knots of royal and government greeters standing 50 yards apart.

Leopold, whose decision to go to the aiport to welcome his son clearly angered and embarrassed Premier Gaston Eyskens, strode toward Baudouin with a smile.

Weather Outlook For Next 30 Days

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Weather Bureau said Monday its 30-day outlook for June calls for temperatures to average above seasonal normals over the northeastern quarter of the nation and also over the Middle Mississippi Valley area.

The bureau added:

"Below normal averages are expected over the western third of the country, except for near normal along the West Coast and northern border states. Near normal temperatures are indicated for unspecified areas, although some cooler than normal weather is predicted for the south Atlantic states.

"Precipitation is expected to be subnormal from the central Great Lakes and Ohio Valley eastward to the Atlantic Coast and also over the far Southwest. Above normal rainfall is predicted for the Gulf and south Atlantic states, as well as over the central Rocky Mountain states and much of the Great Plains. In other areas about normal amounts are in prospect."

Spokesman Urges Salary Boost For Md. Teachers

BALTIMORE (AP) — A spokesman for Maryland teachers thinks teachers salaries should be raised despite the fact that a survey ranked Maryland seventh among the states in average teacher pay.

The survey by the National Education Assn. Saturday listed Maryland's average teachers salary as $5,490 during the 1958-59 school year as compared to $4,800 during 1956-57.

During the same period, the annual average pay for teachers in the United States increased from $4,350 to $4,720.

Milson C. Raver, executive secretary of the Maryland Teachers Assn., said he was pleased but not satisfied by the survey.

"We used to rank 14th, so that's progress," he said. "But we ought to have the highest teacher salaries in the nation because living costs in the Baltimore-Washington area are higher than anywhere else."

Raver noted that the survey listed New Jersey at $5,650 and Delaware at $5,900 among the six states ranked ahead of Maryland. The others were New York, Alaska, California and Connecticut.

Raver said the New Jersey and Delaware salary levels showed Maryland was losing ground to nearby states in the fight to keep capable teachers.

He said Maryland will need 4,500 additional teachers during the 1959-60 school year — including 1,400 for additional classrooms and 3,100 to replace those who leave the system.

New Appointive Powers Given Md. Governor

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A batch of new laws which went into effect Monday will increase the appointive powers of Gov. Tawes and his successors in Maryland's top executive post.

The new laws, and others taking effect July 1, create several commissions and enlarge the membership on others.

Gov. Tawes already has named seven men to the reorganized State Roads Commission, which until Monday was a three-member agency. He also has picked the five members of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission, previously a three-man board.

The governor and the TFC also will select a director of the Department of Tidewater Fisheries, a post held until now by the chairman of the commission.

Another reorganization bill enacted by the 1959 General Assembly, increasing the State Racing Commission from three to five members, was scheduled to go into effect Monday but has been delayed by a petition seeking to have the bill placed before the voters on referendum.

Other new positions which will come into existence July 1 include: The Economic Development Commission, 12 members and an executive director; and a State Coordinating Commission on Problems of the Aging, 16 members including 10 to be picked by the governor and six state officials.

A Tax Court and a new Department of Assessments and Taxation will replace the present Tax Commission on July 1. The three present commissioners will sit on the new court, and will be joined by two others, one of whom Tawes already has named.

In addition to the racing commission bill, two other major pieces of legislation have been delayed from taking effect by petitions for referendum. They are the new Potomac River Compact with Virginia, and a measure aimed at driving gambling casinos out of Charles County.

All told, some 800 bills enacted by the 1959 Legislature went into effect Monday.

One new law, permitting police to administer chemical tests to suspected drunken drivers, has been temporarily stymied because State Police and officials in some counties do not have the equipment to enforce the law.

Maj. William H. Weber, executive director of State Police, said the breath-testing devices will be acquired and installed in barracks around the state after a mid-June conference with Tawes on enforcement procedure.

Another highway safety measure enacted by the General Assembly — to set up a point system for penalizing motorists who break the law — will not take effect until January 1961.

Other bills which became law Monday prohibit movie theater operators from showing certain films classified as obscene to persons under 18, bar the display of obscene books or magazines where they can be seen from the street, and create a Development Credit Corporation which is authorized to make loans aimed at encouraging industrial development.

John Funk Sworn In As SRC's Chairman

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — John B. Funk was sworn in Monday as chairman of the reorganized State Roads Commission.

"You are accepting the very top job in the State of Maryland," Circuit Judge John E. Raine Jr. said at the ceremonies in Towson Courthouse.

"As head of the State Roads Commission, you will have more effect upon the lives and welfare of the people of Maryland than any other man."

Sanitary Commission Post Battle Looms

The agency serves about 600,000 residents with water and sewage facilities.

Since its beginning, the chairmanship of the 41-year-old bicounty agency has been held by a member from Prince Georges County. Before reorganization in 1954, a Montgomery County man was the full-time member of the old three-commissioner organization.

The present board is composed of three Democrats from each county. Candidates for the chairmanship are Frank L. Hewitt Jr., Silver Spring developer and vice chairman for the last four years, and Blair H. Smith, former state's attorney for Prince Georges County.

Planes Forced Down In Field

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—Two light planes, each carrying two persons, were forced down in a field near Lutherville a few miles north of the Baltimore City line Sunday night.

Baltimore County police identified the pilots as Edward Griffin of Sharpsburg and Harry Kefauver of Half Way, Md.

Police said there were no injuries.

The forced landings were made, police said, after the pilots became lost in stormy skies over Prettyby Reservoir enroute to Hagerstown from Atlantic City.

After making repeated passes over housing developments on the fringe of the metropolitan area, the pilots found a break in the clouds, slipped down to ground level and landed.

Sanitary Commission Post Battle Looms

The agency serves about 600,000 residents with water and sewage facilities.

Since its beginning, the chairmanship of the 41-year-old bi-county agency has been held by a member from Prince Georges County. Before reorganization in 1954, a Montgomery County man was the full-time member of the old three-commissioner organization.

The present board is composed of three Democrats from each county. Candidates for the chairmanship are Frank L. Hewitt Jr., Silver Spring developer and vice chairman for the last four years, and Blair H. Smith, former state's attorney for Prince Georges County.

Planes Forced Down In Field

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—Two light planes, each carrying two persons, were forced down in a field near Lutherville a few miles north of the Baltimore City line Sunday night.

Baltimore County police identified the pilots as Edward Griffin of Sharpsburg and Harry Kefauver of Half Way, Md.

Police said there were no injuries.

The forced landings were made, police said, after the pilots became lost in stormy skies over Prettyby Reservoir enroute to Hagerstown from Atlantic City.

After making repeated passes over housing developments on the fringe of the metropolitan area, the pilots found a break in the clouds, slipped down to ground level and landed.

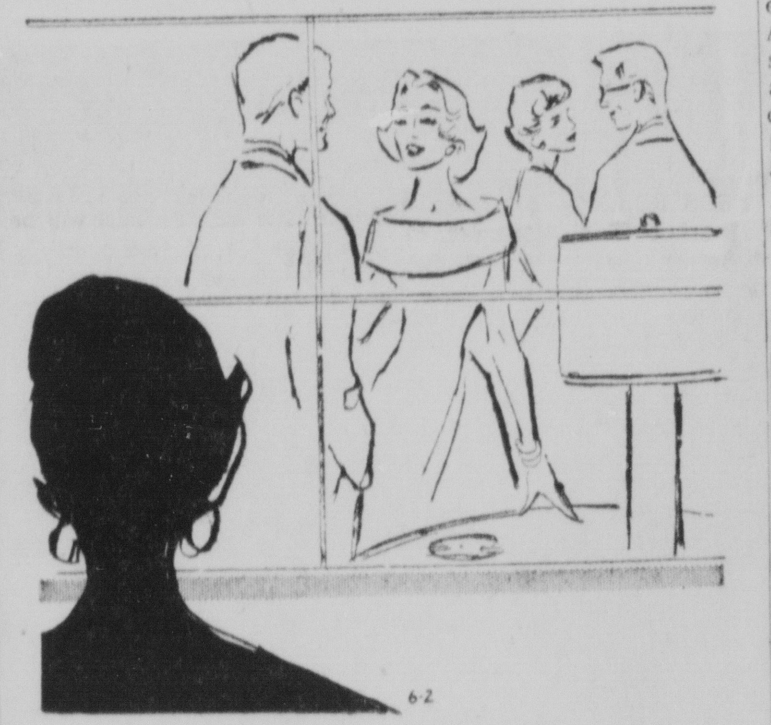
Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers



Why are some attractive people invited everywhere and others only on special occasions?

Are You On The Outside, Looking In?

This state of affairs can be quite a puzzler. You must be attractive or you wouldn't be asked to everything that's important. You meet many people — certainly your acquaintance is wide enough. Then why is it that you miss out somehow on so much fun, that constant informal gatherings are merely rumors to you?

I'm afraid that you are more impressive than you are appealing, better mannered than you are friendly. Whether or not you mean to be, you seem distant and disinterested, not warm and outgoing.

The impression you make must be changed or you always will know everyone without being sure that many are friends. Examine that stand-offish attitude you have, however unintentional it is. Do you stand back at a party expecting to be entertained? Plunge into the spirit of things next time and help to make things hum. Do you wait for others to strike up conversations? Start conversations yourself. Do you really care very little about what goes on, but are on hand only because being left out means social failure? This attitude shows too clearly. It can only be changed if you change your feelings by becoming truly interested.

I'm sure you haven't the habit of inviting a few guests, sometimes on the spur of the moment, perhaps getting a small crowd together before the party, or after the meeting or game. Try it — not just once, but often enough to indicate that you can be informal and hospitable. It will be natural enough to include you with the special few who enjoy each others' company, particularly if you show that you enjoy the same company enough to bring it together yourself.

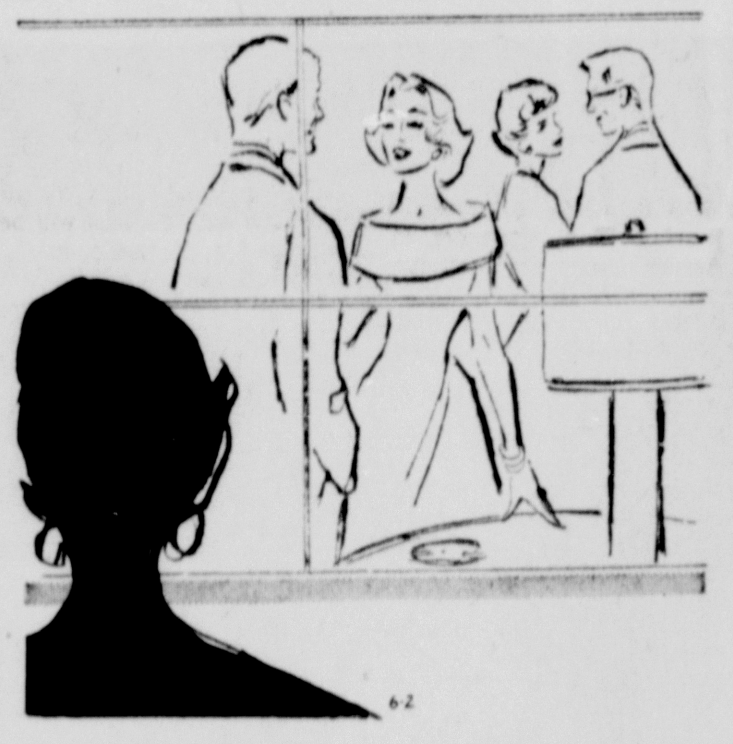
Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers



Why are some attractive people invited everywhere and others only on special occasions?

Are You On The Outside, Looking In?

This state of affairs can be quite a puzzler. You must be attractive or you wouldn't be asked to everything that's important. You meet many people — certainly your acquaintance is wide enough. Then why is it that you miss out somehow on so much fun, that constant informal gatherings are merely rumors to you?

I'm afraid that you are more impressive than you are appealing, better mannered than you are friendly. Whether or not you mean to be, you seem distant and disinterested, not warm and outgoing.

The impression you make must be changed or you always will know everyone without being sure that many are friends. Examine that stand-offish attitude you have, however unintentional it is. Do you stand back at a party expecting to be entertained? Plunge into the spirit of things next time and help to make things hum. Do you wait for others to strike up conversations? Start conversations yourself. Do you really care very little about what goes on, but are on hand only because being left out means social failure? This attitude shows too clearly. It can only be changed if you change your feelings by becoming truly interested.

I'm sure you haven't the habit of inviting a few guests, sometimes on the spur of the moment, perhaps getting a small crowd together before the party, or after the meeting or game. Try it — not just once, but often enough to indicate that you can be informal and hospitable. It will be natural enough to include you with the special few who enjoy each others' company, particularly if you show that you enjoy the same company enough to bring it together yourself.

During his senior year he served as associate editor of the University Law Review.

Mr. Schindler is a past president of the Allegany County Bar Association and is currently chairman of that group's committee on Continuing Legal Education. He is also a member of the Maryland Bar Association.

State Forestry Personnel End Fire Control Session

The 18th annual forest fire control training session for staff and field employes of the State Department of Forests and Parks held recently at Swallow Falls State Forest included organization and methods study and practice courses.

William H. Johnson, district forester, who attended the session, said yesterday the meeting featured large fire organizations and modernized tools and equipment especially for the containment of forest fires in areas of extensive boundaries in rough terrain.

He said modernized pumps and tractors, along with improved fire-line plows were shown and their operation demonstrated for the benefit of old and new employes as a feature of the field practice conducted over the nearly 7,500 acre state forest area.

Also included was a one-day session covering the detection and rating of possible radioactive fallout from theoretical atomic bombing attacks. Similar instructions have been given in previous years as an element of civil defense in forested rural areas, where the department is a collaborator in the civil defense program.

Instruction in this work was conducted by a joint Army-Civil Defense team, headed by William Chenowith, Civil Defense Headquarters, Pikesville, and Capt. W. L. Towner, with an Army team from Fort George G. Meade.

An illustrated talk on American rocket development was given by Edward J. Skurzynski, project engineer, courtesy of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory at Pinto.

Forest fire control instruction was under the direction of State Forester H. C. Buckingham, Annapolis, and Assistant Forester A. R. Bond who were assisted by District Foresters William H. Johnson, Cumberland; A. J. Pickall, Laurel; John J. Mohr, Salisbury, and Henry E. Stasiek, Bel Air.

A total of 115 of the town's 235 registered voters went to the polls last night at Barton in what had been billed as an uncontested town election. However, 30 voters wrote in tallies for Arthur Hoffa for mayor, who had declined to seek re-election.

Two newcomers to politics were elected to council without opposition. James O'Rourke, a Celanese worker polled 94 votes and Richard Fram, a junior high school teacher at Frostburg, polled 92.

The new council will take office the last Monday this month and will meet regularly once each month.

Air Pollution Termed County-State Function

Mayor J. Edwin Keech yesterday told the City Health Board he will present a proposal for an air pollution control program here to the Council.

In making the statement, he stressed that air pollution is a state and county problem and that the City of Cumberland is already contributing for such functions.

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer and secretary of the City Health Board, was authorized to take steps to acquaint the Board of Allegany County Commissioners with the scope of the problem and its needs.

Hear Details

Details of what could be done to establish such a program in Cumberland were related by Dr. William F. Reindollar, chief of the Division of Industrial Health and Air Pollution of the State Health Department, and Col. John M. Brown (USA-Ret), who heads the unit's Air Pollution program.

Col. Brown said an air sampling station to establish the present level and changing patterns of air pollution could be established for about $2,500 and maintained for about $300 a year.

A station without meterological equipment, he added, could be established for about $500 and maintained for about $100 a year.

The State Health Department, which would offer technical services for a local station. It now has four stations in operation through the state.

Cites Double Taxation

Dr. Reindollar recalled a 1950 survey made here by the state for the Public Health Service, which showed a correlation between the common cold and high dust fall areas.

There was considerable discussion on a number of air pollution problems, most of them outside the city.

Mayor Keech reported that the proposal was a county proposition.

He said the city is trying to avoid double taxation and that city sponsorship or aid would mean the same thing as the former Juvenile Court plan, which required the city to contribute $2,500 a year toward a county function.

Building Contracts Set April Record

Construction contracts in the United States in April totalled $3,778,419,000, setting a new high for any April, and a new all-time high for any month when allowance is made for seasonal influences, according to F. W. Dodge Corporation.

Request Is Granted

The Mayor and Council yesterday agreed to a county request that information on sewer lines in the vicinity of city be turned over to Green Associates, which is making a sewage survey of the Georges Creek area.

Sneak Preview Of Dr. Erhard

Americans will get a kind of sneak preview, beginning today, of the man who may shortly be leader of West Germany. Dr. Ludwig Erhard, economics minister and top candidate to succeed his fellow Christian Democrat, Konrad Adenauer, in the chancellorship, will be here for a week on a private visit. He will pick up a couple of honorary doctorates during commencement season and also will confer on an informal basis with U. S. trade chiefs.

Erhard's accession to the chancellorship would already be sealed except for one thing: Adenauer doesn't want him. Der Alte prefers someone who more nearly approximates his own outlook, namely Finance Minister Franz Etzel.

Originally, Adenauer tried to get Erhard to accept the largely ceremonial post being vacated by President Theodor Heuss. Erhard, a strong-willed individualist in his own right, wasn't having any. Adenauer then announced he would make the race himself to prevent election of popular Carlo Schmid, entry of the opposition Social Democrats. It was clear that Adenauer hoped to influence the choice of his successor and perhaps take with him into the presidency much of his current prestige and authority.

So far, Adenauer seems to be having little success in promoting Etzel's candidacy. As a result, he is said to have told intimates he may stay on as chancellor instead of stepping out and up on July 1 as planned.

The key issue, apart from the clash of powerful personalities, is foreign policy. Adenauer wants West Germany to continue following the line he set down, particularly with respect to NATO, the European Common Market and friendship with France. Erhard is an advocate of "open-mindedness and flexibility," which in the current lexicon of diplomacy seems to be the antonym of the policies devised by Adenauer and his mourned friend, the late Secretary of State Dulles.

The Upper Beatniks

What we boast of most is our high standard of living—automobiles, washing machines, vacuum cleaners, food in cans, frozen foods, etc., etc. This we give to the world as a demonstration of our superiority, of the accomplishment of a nation which pays the highest wages, requires employment at the shortest hours, grants the most leisure and has invented a thousand devices to occupy the leisure time. We even regard the high standard of living as a cultural and spiritual value.

But all this seems to have done no good as propaganda. Somehow, the rest of the world, even the most friendly peoples, are laughing at us. They seem to say, "Of course, you have accomplished wonders, but do you know how to live?"

And this question becomes increasingly serious as our inflation throws up a new class of parvenus. The Upper Beatniks, people with loads of money, do not know how to live and demonstrate daily the truism that man cannot live by bread alone, that he requires something of the spirit, something of morals and ethics and human kindness in addition to the washing machine. And all our propaganda goes to waste when one takes a look here or abroad at our over-dressed, over-bejewelled Upper Beatniks of whom it can be said that when they washed the family laundry themselves, they looked more human.

There is something porcine in the vulgarity of the new rich because they are ashamed of their old poverty. Some solve their problems by changing their names as women lift their faces and they get lost in the multitude of similar frightened souls. For among them none have an aristocracy of ancestry, or a pride in origin or in status. They are only proud that in a period of inflation they amassed money as many other Americans did in the 1920s and then committed suicide in 1930 when they were forced to restore themselves to a life to which they were really accustomed.

I write of this because we are making such a noble and costly effort to convince the world that our high standard of living has really made us noble, when, as a matter of fact, we have reached the stage where parents fear their children, where in broken homes each parent seeks to purchase the affection of a child already corrupted by a rapidly developed capacity for blackmail. There can be no moral development of the next generation in this milieu.

This is our fundamental problem, for the next two generations are at stake. It is not merely the question of what is happening now but where the leadership and the working force, the initiative power of the next generations will come from. Admiral Hyman Rickover and other critics of our educational system complain about a routinized, unintelligent educational process which fails to produce enough talent; others complain of the soullessness of secular education without any regard for the eternities. But many parents still believe that their little morons are brilliant because they are rich and that they will be persons of significance because they can buy their way. The question, of course, is: where can they buy their way to or into?

From the standpoint of the United States, such men and women generally buy their way to nowhere; they produce nothing; their riches flow into little usefulness; and although there is a gift tax on a canary diamond or a necklace of pink diamonds or black pearls, or something equally startling, the money accruing to the Treasury is not worth the price of having them around. They give us a bad name by their extravagances, their vulgarity and their brazen disregard of the national welfare. A nation does not build on speculation or on the change-over of enterprise from the creators of instruments of production to those who know how to accumulate enough capital to take over.

The Upper Beatniks are a queer lot and can often best be identified by the poverty of their knowledge, the inadequacy of their language, and their over-anxiety to appear to be important. When all else fails, they usually hire a press agent to advertise them and when those whom we are trying to win to our side, read of their publicized adulteries, their divorces, their covetings, they regard us as barely civilized.

Perhaps we need a curtain to hide our self-advertised shame.

Young King Baudouin Of Belgium Proves A Democratic Monarch

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Being a king in this modern day of democracies, press conferences, and Rotary Club luncheons is no easy job. Especially it's not easy when you're only 29 years old and have never taken an official trip outside your country.

However, the coast to coast tour of the young King of the Belgians, just terminated, held both lessons and highlights for the USA.

King Baudouin's visit was a bit different from that of his famous grandfather, King Albert, who with his consort came to New York during the distressing days of World War I. Chiefly remembered from that visit is Mayor John Hylan's famous remark: "You said a mouthful, Queen!"

King Baudouin's visit began in Washington in the Belgian Embassy where he stood, tall, handsome, and very much alone. One by one, bemedaled diplomats, full-uniformed officers, and jeweled dowagers stepped up to shake hands. Shyly he greeted them.

There was something a bit incongruous in the scene. Here was a scion of European royalty which through the years had become more democratic, surrounded by representatives of American democracy wanting to become more aristocratic.

There was a day when Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson, appearing in the royal courts of Europe, refused to wear uniforms, inserted a provision in the U. S. Constitution that medals could not be accepted. But at the Belgian Embassy the other evening medals glittered on almost every bosom.

Even the Embassy in which the King stood was symbolic of what can happen when Americans yearn for aristocracy and wealth. It was built by Ray Baker, director of the mint under Woodrow Wilson, who married Delphine Dodge, the copper heiress. It passed on to Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury, widow of the Drexel, Biddle banker in Philadelphia, whose estate passed it on to the Belgian government when inheritance taxes ate up family fortunes.

The King's Sadness

King Boudouin of the Belgians didn't know this as he stood shaking hands. Nor did the crowd milling in the Embassy know why he looked shy, almost a little sad. Most of them did not realize that his mother, the beautiful Queen Astrid, had been killed in an auto accident when he was five; that his father had been taken to Germany by Hitler when he was ten; and that after the war his father was subjected to bitter criticism from the people he was supposed to rule—first, because he had surrendered to Hitler; second, because he took as his second wife a commoner.

When the criticism became too intense, his father abdicated. Baudouin became King of the Belgians. He was only 21. He had grown up in a crucible of suffering.

Even as he toured the USA, inspecting everything from atomic testing grounds to the Grand Canyon, word came that critical subjects back in Belgium demanded that his father move from the royal palace because of his influence over his son, the King.

American Aristocracy

Touring the USA, young King Boudouin showed his own democracy, also rubbed shoulders with American industrial aristocracy.

For the first time in his life he held press conferences, addressed huge crowds of people. Most kings don't do this. In Washington, accepting honorary membership in the Boy Scouts of America, he told nervous scout Robert Singleton: "Give me your left hand. I'm a boy scout too and I know the proper shake."

"Your honor," asked the American scout, pulling some coins from his pocket. "Are these real Belgian coins?"

The king examined them, said one was from the Belgian Congo, the other from Belgium. He accepted a flag from the Boy Scouts and their benefactor, Garfield Kass, the supermarket builder, but wanted to be sure it was a new flag with the 49th star for Alaska. It was.

In Detroit, King Baudouin not only inspected auto assembly lines but dined with the first motor family of America—the Henry Fords. Henry Ford II was host, grandson of the strait-laced, abstemious old mechanic who had built a backyard machine shop into one of the industrial wonders of the world.

Next morning, however, Ford took the King on a personal tour of his plant, gave him one of the first rides in the new Ford small car, the Falcon, and showed him the miracle of modern motor production.

If modern day royalty has as much strength and democracy as the young King of the Belgians, it has learned a lesson from which Americans can profit.

River Clean-up

A move to clean up American rivers runs into a head-on clash today with the Republican-southern Democrat coalition. Congressman John Blatnik of Minnesota plans to increase his river clean-up fund from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 a year in federal money to match state funds.

In the past he has always had to buck Congressman Howard Smith of Virginia, whose district borders on the Potomac and whose communities dump sewage into the Potomac. Smith is against river clean-up.

His state, however, isn't. Recently the state of Virginia fined the American Viscose Company $154,770 for dumping poisonous waste into the Shenandoah River, thereby killing thousands of fish in both the Shenandoah and the Potomac.

The Republican leaders have described Blatnik's bill as an "Eisenhower budget-buster."

However, the Congressman from Minnesota believes he can whip the coalition.

The Iron Society And The Party At Lowicz

By Joseph Alsop

WARSAW

They had a fine party at Lowicz on Thursday in honor of the Body and Blood of Our Lord.

It sounds shockingly irreverent when put that way. Yet it is really the best way to describe this vast celebration of Corpus Christi, which was the very opposite of irreverent.

Too many years have passed since this reporter used to cover Sunday morning sermons for the greatest city editor of our times, Stanley Walker. It seems more than a little strange to be doing the same sort of thing, on a larger scale, more than a quarter of a century later, and on the other side of the iron curtain. But in this part of the world, if you wish to sense the deepest feelings of the people, you must go to the old Coronation Church in Budapest, or to Corpus Christi in Lowicz.

Something else could be sensed in Lowicz, too, as one began to realize on the short drive out from Warsaw. Lowicz is a little town that is chiefly famous as the place where Napoleon met his last love, Maria Waleska, and as the center of the district which has the prettiest peasant costumes in Poland. The costumes the Lowicz people wear in their Corpus Christi procession make it a great annual attraction, and half Warsaw seemed to be on the way to Lowicz.

Automobiles of every make, motor scooters, motorcycles, and put-put equipped bicycles of every description, even fleets of un-mechanized bicycles furiously propelled by muscular bicycle racing enthusiasts, produced a serious traffic problem. Among the many forms of misery that humankind is heir to, traffic problems alone have always been utterly unknown on this side of the famous curtain. What would have been normal in Nyack was amazing on the Lowicz road.

The state of the road forecast the state of the town. The cathedral square, with its war memorial to the one-fifth of the population of Lowicz killed by the Germans, was one continuous, slowly milling crowd. The cathedral itself (a minor marvel of Polish baroque, all fluting turrets, flying angels, and elegantly gesturing saints) was so jammed one could hardly edge in beyond the doors. As the priest placed the golden monstrance on the altar pinnacle, the hymn to the Host poured from several thousand throats with extraordinary emotion: "With Thy body, with Thy blood save us and bless us, O Lord!"

So it was in the cathedral from this beginning, until the mass ended with the deep and terrible passion of the Polish national hymn, "O God, from ages past, protector of this Polish land." Out in the square, however, as long as mass continued, it was more like a poorly provided fun-fair.

There were pastel-colored ices to be eaten. Vendors were also hawking little paper parasols and the strange traditional delicacy-ornament of Corpus Christi in Poland, necklaces of fried dumplings in the shape of a rosary. But Poland's new prosperity has not got much beyond road transport, and these trifles were the only pleasure offered at the fun-fair, besides the pleasure of slowly pushing one's way through the close-packed mob, to see what friends were there. At least everyone could find a friend. Well-dressed professional men and blue-jeaned university students, young "hooligans" with their long hair and sober, dark clad working families, and people of every other sort — including even a stray Communist official or two had all come out to Lowicz to the party there.

The fun fair in the square was suspended when the mass ended, and the cathedral bells tolled, and the Corpus Christi procession made its way into the open air. It was indeed a sight worth seeing—the girls and women in their embroidered bodices and astounding layers of skirts striped green and blue and red and black and purple and yellow, and the men in their black jerkins and yellow striped pantaloons; the endless line of banners, beribboned and bedecked with flowers: the old men with their kettledrums; the choir boys with their tinkling bells; and at the end, the Host in its monstrance under its silken canopy. The whole crowd bowed in silent reverence as the Host was carried through its ranks.

After that, the object of the day's excursion had been officially attained. But in all honesty, it must be said that the real object, at least for the many thousands of sightseers from Warsaw, had not been quite attained as yet. Most of them must have been believers—most Poles are—but pleasure was what they chiefly sought in Lowicz.

So the town's sole restaurant was packed as in a subway rush. Every other restaurant and cafe within twenty kilometers was soon crowded, too. The roadside from Lowicz to Warsaw was strewn all afternoon with groups of cheerful picnickers. The muscular bicycle racers even took a quiet dip in the little river. It was all very innocent and gay and simple and above all very astonishing.

For if religion is there already, and pleasure comes creeping insidiously in, and faint traces of prosperity begin to appear as well, how can a theoretically iron society keep its iron unrusted? That is the question which makes the party at Lowicz really worth describing.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

The long, bitter battle over confirmation of Lewis Strauss as Secretary of Commerce is coming to a head in the Senate. Private nose-counting by both Republicans and Democrats indicate the vote will be extremely close, and chances are, he'll be defeated.

Should this happen, it will rank among the sharpest defeats that President Eisenhower has suffered in his more than six years in the White House. It is rare that the Senate ever rejects a Presidential nomination. It has never rejected an Eisenhower nominee.

Just a few weeks ago it looked as though Strauss was gaining strength in the fight. He was subjected to endless questioning and harrassment at lengthy public hearings and public sympathy seemed to be swinging his way.

However, in the last few days, as the Senate gets ready for a really acrimonious debate, Strauss seems to have lost support among some Senate factions. This is largely because of the especially high esteem in which his colleagues hold Senator Clinton Anderson (D), New Mexico, leader of the opposition to Strauss.

Anderson, a former Cabinet member under the Truman administration, is no lightweight or sensation seeker. Several Senators who were on the fence have said privately they probably will vote with Anderson because he must have some sound grounds for his position.

If opposition continues to mount, Strauss might publicly withdraw rather than embarrass the President by permitting the Senate to formally vote him out.

Eye Inflammations Have Various Causes

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The conjunctiva is the thin membrane that lines the eyelids and covers the exposed part of the eyeball. It is so sensitive, the smallest particle or slightest irritation is felt immediately and brings tears to the eyes.

This membrane is injured easily by overexposure to light, wind, or smoke. It is affected also by overuse or abuse of the eyes, refractive errors, faulty glasses, a speck of dust or steel, and by a turned-in lash. Overindulgence in alcohol makes the eyes bloodshot and watery. These conditions are temporary and disappear, as a rule, when the cause is removed.

A more disabling form of conjunctivitis develops when the delicate membrane is invaded by micro-organisms. In such instances, the lids swell and become brilliant red. A discharge oozes from between the lids. Its consistency depends upon the causative organisms and the excretion varies from a clear watery substance to pus. The secretions accumulate during sleep, and dry on the edges of the lids, which itch, burn, and feel sandy.

Many variations of conjunctivitis are noted. The reflection from sunlight on snow may lead to severe irritation (snow blindness) similar to that produced by exposure to an ultraviolet lamp. The welder who does not wear a protective shield may encounter a similar reaction.

Various infections may spread to the eye through contaminated droplets, fingers, towels, and handkerchiefs. Pink-eye is an extremely contagious form of acute conjunctivitis that occurs most often in the spring and summer. Inflammation of this type may accompany coryza of the nose, hay fever, flu, and measles.

(For additional information send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Van Dellen for leaflet on conjunctivitis).

Conjunctivitis never should be neglected. The ophthalmologist may test the secretions to determine the cause and prescribe a specific treatment. Ice compresses are soothing and the eyes may be irrigated several times a day with a dilute saline solution. Ointments containing a sulfonamide may prove helpful. The antibiotics may be needed but they are best administered orally or hypodermically.

TOMORROW: Cancer of the larynx.

SOLE WARTS

J. Z. writes: Are planter warts contagious? I have one on my left sole and want to know if I should take precautions to protect the other members of the family.

REPLY

Some are, especially those caused by a filtrable virus. The contagious variety is more common in children than in adults. Send a stamped, self-addressed enveloped for our leaflet on plantar warts.

BLISTERED SKIN

R. H. writes: Is it true that pemphigus no longer is fatal and that it can be kept under control with cortisone?

REPLY

The corticosteroids have made a marked change in the outlook of victims of this disease in which large blisters form over various parts of the body. The cause of this serious skin disease is not known.

NOSE RECONSTRUCTION

K. L. writes: I know a long nose can be bobbed but what of a short nose that is too wide? Would plastic surgery help here?

REPLY

Yes, but are you sure an altered nose would go with your face?

NOT A KILLER

F. D. writes: Is arthritis a killing disease?

REPLY

Before modern remedies became available, we dubbed arthritis a disease that never killed but never got better.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Mrs. Lutetia Kittle writes from Kentucky that she knows the knitting champion of America. "It's my Aunt Matilda," boasts Mrs. Kittle, "and she ain't been seen without her knitting needle going lickety split for over 30 years. She's positively the knittingest woman in the U. S. A. Yes, sir, she even takes her yarn to bed with her every night—and every now and so often she throws out a sock!"

Advice to wives from that sage old philosopher, Peter Lind Hayes: "Remember, girls, your hubby still gets a bang out of golf, hunting trips and all-night poker. Show him you're thinking of him! Speak of them occasionally!"

A gold digger, glittering in the international set, strutted into the Stork Club positively oozing diamonds from every pore. "Trouble with that girl," opined a lass with less taking ways, "is that she's getting too big for her brooches."

Travel In Russia

By Leslie Gould

(In the third of a series on his observations as a business writer of the Russian economy and trade war, Leslie Gould reports on the problems of a tourist and correspondents in general in gathering Russian news.)

Two questions are almost universally asked of the American visitor to Russia:

"An American?"

An affirmative answer brings this one:

"You like Russian people?"

From there on the conversation depends on the linguistic abilities of the Russian, for the native tongue is next to impossible for a visitor to grasp. A surprising number of Russians do speak English, and quiet fluently. They are mostly young people—college students and recent graduates.

About the only Russian words a short time visitor is able to pick up are numbers—ah-DEEN one; dvah — two; tree — three; chen-TIH-ryeh — four; pyant—five, and so on.

Pah-ZHAH-loos-tah — please.

Spah-SEE-buh — thanks.

Of course—dah - yes, and nyet-no.

Even with the English speaking guide, assigned to you there are language difficulties. For example, we wanted to buy some prints—preferably old ones. We had out guide in Leningrad write it out in Russian to show our guide in Moscow. This we did.

Leonna read it, but seemed puzzled and said:

"But I do not know of any."

When we insisted, she said she would speak to Intourist—which arranges everything for visitors—but added:

"There may be some noblemen, but I wouldn't know where."

Prints had been written Printz, meaning Prince.

On returning home, the questions run:

How was the food? The hotel accommodations? Were the Russians friendly? Were you continuously watched? Could you move about freely? Is there going to be war? How do the people dress?

Did you meet Khrushchev? Mikoyan? What are the stores like? How do the people live? Do women really do manual labor? Would you like to go back?

The food is all right—a little monotonous, for there is not much variety. There are few restaurants outside the hotels and nothing comparable to "21". Nor are the pre-World War I hotels comparable to even second class American accommodations. At one new hotel—a real skyscraper—in Moscow the service is poor and the food inferior.

One of the reasons for restricting travel by foreigners outside the few large cities is the lack of accommodations, as much as desires for secrecy.

We were allowed to go only to Leningrad, Moscow and Kiev. Trips to Gorky—the automobile center—and the Urals, where the greatest industrial development is supposed to be—were out of bounds. Also factories in Moscow and Leningrad, Intourist explaining:

"You are here as a tourist. If you had come as a journalist, you would be able to meet any of the leaders and travel more."

That's propaganda. The Soviet embassy in Washington recommended going as a tourist, otherwise—it was said—it would take months, maybe never, to get a visa. The Russians—the official ones, that is—don't like foreign newspapermen. Thinking as Russians, they believe American newspapermen are really secret agents as most Russian newspapermen working in other countries are.

Foreign correspondents headquartered in Moscow are limited as to their travel, and everything they write is subject to a strict—and at time ridiculous—censorship. The main sources for news are newspapers and their accounts of speeches of the various party leaders. It is a frustrating, tough assignment.

There is always the threat of expulsion, and when it comes to departures there can be harrassing delays, as the NBC's top commentator found as reprisal for a book—"Main Street, USSR". His exit visa was held up on one pretex or another for about two weeks.

One thing on going to Russia is to be sure to have all exit visa before crossing the border. This holds for all the Communist lands. Otherwise, the visitor can find bureaucratic red tape delaying departures.

Russia is run by the biggest and probably the most wasteful inefficient bureaucracy anywhere. It is like the army, where the sergeant passes the buck to the lieutenant, and he to the captain and so on up to the general.

A wrong bureaucratic authorization here can mean only a reprimand—if that. In Russia, it can mean Siberia and the salt mines, or for a top bureaucrat loss of the perquisities of the job—a car, a large apartment, servants, access to a restricted shop.

(Next: What it costs the average Russian in rubles and labor to feed and clothe himself, compared to the average American worker.)

A nation does not build on speculation or on the change-over of enterprise from the creators of instruments of production to those who know how to accumulate enough capital to take over.

The Upper Beatniks are a queer lot and can often best be identified by the poverty of their knowledge, the inadequacy of their language, and their over-anxiety to appear to be important. When all else fails, they usually hire a press agent to advertise them and when those whom we are trying to win to our side, read of their publicized adulteries, their divorces, their covetings, they regard us as barely civilized.

Perhaps we need a curtain to hide our self-advertised shame.

Young King Baudouin Of Belgium Proves A Democratic Monarch

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Being a king in this modern day of democracies, press conferences, and Rotary Club luncheons is no easy job. Especially it's not easy when you're only 29 years old and have never taken an official trip outside your country.

However, the coast to coast tour of the young King of the Belgians, just terminated, held both lessons and highlights for the USA.

King Baudouin's visit was a bit different from that of his famous grandfather, King Albert, who with his consort came to New York during the distressing days of World War I. Chiefly remembered from that visit is Mayor John Hylan's famous remark: "You said a mouthful, Queen!"

King Baudouin's visit began in Washington in the Belgian Embassy where he stood, tall, handsome, and very much alone. One by one, bemedaled diplomats, full-uniformed officers, and jeweled dowagers stepped up to shake hands. Shyly he greeted them.

There was something a bit incongruous in the scene. Here was a scion of European royalty which through the years had become more democratic, surrounded by representatives of American democracy wanting to become more aristocratic.

There was a day when Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson, appearing in the royal courts of Europe, refused to wear uniforms, inserted a provision in the U. S. Constitution that medals could not be accepted. But at the Belgian Embassy the other evening medals glittered on almost every bosom.

Even the Embassy in which the King stood was symbolic of what can happen when Americans yearn for aristocracy and wealth. It was built by Ray Baker, director of the mint under Woodrow Wilson, who married Delphine Dodge, the copper heiress. It passed on to Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury, widow of the Drexel, Biddle banker in Philadelphia, whose estate passed it on to the Belgian government when inheritance taxes ate up family fortunes.

The King's Sadness

King Boudouin of the Belgians didn't know this as he stood shaking hands. Nor did the crowd milling in the Embassy know why he looked shy, almost a little sad. Most of them did not realize that his mother, the beautiful Queen Astrid, had been killed in an auto accident when he was five; that his father had been taken to Germany by Hitler when he was ten; and that after the war his father was subjected to bitter criticism from the people he was supposed to rule—first, because he had surrendered to Hitler; second, because he took as his second wife a commoner.

When the criticism became too intense, his father abdicated. Baudouin became King of the Belgians. He was only 21. He had grown up in a crucible of suffering.

Even as he toured the USA, inspecting everything from atomic testing grounds to the Grand Canyon, word came that critical subjects back in Belgium demanded that his father move from the royal palace because of his influence over his son, the King.

American Aristocracy

Touring the USA, young King Boudouin showed his own democracy, also rubbed shoulders with American industrial aristocracy.

For the first time in his life he held press conferences, addressed huge crowds of people. Most kings don't do this. In Washington, accepting honorary membership in the Boy Scouts of America, he told nervous scout Robert Singleton: "Give me your left hand. I'm a boy scout too and I know the proper shake."

"Your honor," asked the American scout, pulling some coins from his pocket. "Are these real Belgian coins?"

The king examined them, said one was from the Belgian Congo, the other from Belgium. He accepted a flag from the Boy Scouts and their benefactor, Garfield Kass, the supermarket builder, but wanted to be sure it was a new flag with the 49th star for Alaska. It was.

In Detroit, King Baudouin not only inspected auto assembly lines but dined with the first motor family of America—the Henry Fords. Henry Ford II was host, grandson of the strait-laced, abstemious old mechanic who had built a backyard machine shop into one of the industrial wonders of the world.

Next morning, however, Ford took the King on a personal tour of his plant, gave him one of the first rides in the new Ford small car, the Falcon, and showed him the miracle of modern motor production.

If modern day royalty has as much strength and democracy as the young King of the Belgians, it has learned a lesson from which Americans can profit.

River Clean-up

A move to clean up American rivers runs into a head-on clash today with the Republican-southern Democrat coalition. Congressman John Blatnik of Minnesota plans to increase his river clean-up fund from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 a year in federal money to match state funds.

In the past he has always had to buck Congressman Howard Smith of Virginia, whose district borders on the Potomac and whose communities dump sewage into the Potomac. Smith is against river clean-up.

His state, however, isn't. Recently the state of Virginia fined the American Viscose Company $154,770 for dumping poisonous waste into the Shenandoah River, thereby killing thousands of fish in both the Shenandoah and the Potomac.

The Republican leaders have described Blatnik's bill as an "Eisenhower budget-buster."

However, the Congressman from Minnesota believes he can whip the coalition.

The Iron Society And The Party At Lowicz

By Joseph Alsop

WARSAW

They had a fine party at Lowicz on Thursday in honor of the Body and Blood of Our Lord.

It sounds shockingly irreverent when put that way. Yet it is really the best way to describe this vast celebration of Corpus Christi, which was the very opposite of irreverent.

Too many years have passed since this reporter used to cover Sunday morning sermons for the greatest city editor of our times, Stanley Walker. It seems more than a little strange to be doing the same sort of thing, on a larger scale, more than a quarter of a century later, and on the other side of the iron curtain. But in this part of the world, if you wish to sense the deepest feelings of the people, you must go to the old Coronation Church in Budapest, or to Corpus Christi in Lowicz.

Something else could be sensed in Lowicz, too, as one began to realize on the short drive out from Warsaw. Lowicz is a little town that is chiefly famous as the place where Napoleon met his last love, Maria Waleska, and as the center of the district which has the prettiest peasant costumes in Poland. The costumes the Lowicz people wear in their Corpus Christi procession make it a great annual attraction, and half Warsaw seemed to be on the way to Lowicz.

Automobiles of every make, motor scooters, motorcycles, and put-put equipped bicycles of every description, even fleets of un-mechanized bicycles furiously propelled by muscular bicycle racing enthusiasts, produced a serious traffic problem. Among the many forms of misery that humankind is heir to, traffic problems alone have always been utterly unknown on this side of the famous curtain. What would have been normal in Nyack was amazing on the Lowicz road.

The state of the road forecast the state of the town. The cathedral square, with its war memorial to the one-fifth of the population of Lowicz killed by the Germans, was one continuous, slowly milling crowd. The cathedral itself (a minor marvel of Polish baroque, all fluting turrets, flying angels, and elegantly gesturing saints) was so jammed one could hardly edge in beyond the doors. As the priest placed the golden monstrance on the altar pinnacle, the hymn to the Host poured from several thousand throats with extraordinary emotion: "With Thy body, with Thy blood save us and bless us, O Lord!"

So it was in the cathedral from this beginning, until the mass ended with the deep and terrible passion of the Polish national hymn, "O God, from ages past, protector of this Polish land." Out in the square, however, as long as mass continued, it was more like a poorly provided fun-fair.

There were pastel-colored ices to be eaten. Vendors were also hawking little paper parasols and the strange traditional delicacy-ornament of Corpus Christi in Poland, necklaces of fried dumplings in the shape of a rosary. But Poland's new prosperity has not got much beyond road transport, and these trifles were the only pleasure offered at the fun-fair, besides the pleasure of slowly pushing one's way through the close-packed mob, to see what friends were there. At least everyone could find a friend. Well-dressed professional men and blue-jeaned university students, young "hooligans" with their long hair and sober, dark clad working families, and people of every other sort — including even a stray Communist official or two had all come out to Lowicz to the party there.

The fun fair in the square was suspended when the mass ended, and the cathedral bells tolled, and the Corpus Christi procession made its way into the open air. It was indeed a sight worth seeing—the girls and women in their embroidered bodices and astounding layers of skirts striped green and blue and red and black and purple and yellow, and the men in their black jerkins and yellow striped pantaloons; the endless line of banners, beribboned and bedecked with flowers: the old men with their kettledrums; the choir boys with their tinkling bells; and at the end, the Host in its monstrance under its silken canopy. The whole crowd bowed in silent reverence as the Host was carried through its ranks.

After that, the object of the day's excursion had been officially attained. But in all honesty, it must be said that the real object, at least for the many thousands of sightseers from Warsaw, had not been quite attained as yet. Most of them must have been believers—most Poles are—but pleasure was what they chiefly sought in Lowicz.

So the town's sole restaurant was packed as in a subway rush. Every other restaurant and cafe within twenty kilometers was soon crowded, too. The roadside from Lowicz to Warsaw was strewn all afternoon with groups of cheerful picnickers. The muscular bicycle racers even took a quiet dip in the little river. It was all very innocent and gay and simple and above all very astonishing.

For if religion is there already, and pleasure comes creeping insidiously in, and faint traces of prosperity begin to appear as well, how can a theoretically iron society keep its iron unrusted? That is the question which makes the party at Lowicz really worth describing.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

The long, bitter battle over confirmation of Lewis Strauss as Secretary of Commerce is coming to a head in the Senate. Private nose-counting by both Republicans and Democrats indicate the vote will be extremely close, and chances are, he'll be defeated.

Should this happen, it will rank among the sharpest defeats that President Eisenhower has suffered in his more than six years in the White House. It is rare that the Senate ever rejects a Presidential nomination. It has never rejected an Eisenhower nominee.

Just a few weeks ago it looked as though Strauss was gaining strength in the fight. He was subjected to endless questioning and harrassment at lengthy public hearings and public sympathy seemed to be swinging his way.

However, in the last few days, as the Senate gets ready for a really acrimonious debate, Strauss seems to have lost support among some Senate factions. This is largely because of the especially high esteem in which his colleagues hold Senator Clinton Anderson (D), New Mexico, leader of the opposition to Strauss.

Anderson, a former Cabinet member under the Truman administration, is no lightweight or sensation seeker. Several Senators who were on the fence have said privately they probably will vote with Anderson because he must have some sound grounds for his position.

If opposition continues to mount, Strauss might publicly withdraw rather than embarrass the President by permitting the Senate to formally vote him out.

Eye Inflammations Have Various Causes

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The conjunctiva is the thin membrane that lines the eyelids and covers the exposed part of the eyeball. It is so sensitive, the smallest particle or slightest irritation is felt immediately and brings tears to the eyes.

This membrane is injured easily by overexposure to light, wind, or smoke. It is affected also by overuse or abuse of the eyes, refractive errors, faulty glasses, a speck of dust or steel, and by a turned-in lash. Overindulgence in alcohol makes the eyes bloodshot and watery. These conditions are temporary and disappear, as a rule, when the cause is removed.

A more disabling form of conjunctivitis develops when the delicate membrane is invaded by micro-organisms. In such instances, the lids swell and become brilliant red. A discharge oozes from between the lids. Its consistency depends upon the causative organisms and the excretion varies from a clear watery substance to pus. The secretions accumulate during sleep, and dry on the edges of the lids, which itch, burn, and feel sandy.

Many variations of conjunctivitis are noted. The reflection from sunlight on snow may lead to severe irritation (snow blindness) similar to that produced by exposure to an ultraviolet lamp. The welder who does not wear a protective shield may encounter a similar reaction.

Various infections may spread to the eye through contaminated droplets, fingers, towels, and handkerchiefs. Pink-eye is an extremely contagious form of acute conjunctivitis that occurs most often in the spring and summer. Inflammation of this type may accompany coryza of the nose, hay fever, flu, and measles.

(For additional information send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Van Dellen for leaflet on conjunctivitis).

Conjunctivitis never should be neglected. The ophthalmologist may test the secretions to determine the cause and prescribe a specific treatment. Ice compresses are soothing and the eyes may be irrigated several times a day with a dilute saline solution. Ointments containing a sulfonamide may prove helpful. The antibiotics may be needed but they are best administered orally or hypodermically.

TOMORROW: Cancer of the larynx.

SOLE WARTS

J. Z. writes: Are planter warts contagious? I have one on my left sole and want to know if I should take precautions to protect the other members of the family.

REPLY

Some are, especially those caused by a filtrable virus. The contagious variety is more common in children than in adults. Send a stamped, self-addressed enveloped for our leaflet on plantar warts.

BLISTERED SKIN

R. H. writes: Is it true that pemphigus no longer is fatal and that it can be kept under control with cortisone?

REPLY

The corticosteroids have made a marked change in the outlook of victims of this disease in which large blisters form over various parts of the body. The cause of this serious skin disease is not known.

NOSE RECONSTRUCTION

K. L. writes: I know a long nose can be bobbed but what of a short nose that is too wide? Would plastic surgery help here?

REPLY

Yes, but are you sure an altered nose would go with your face?

NOT A KILLER

F. D. writes: Is arthritis a killing disease?

REPLY

Before modern remedies became available, we dubbed arthritis a disease that never killed but never got better.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Mrs. Lutetia Kittle writes from Kentucky that she knows the knitting champion of America. "It's my Aunt Matilda," boasts Mrs. Kittle, "and she ain't been seen without her knitting needle going lickety split for over 30 years. She's positively the knittingest woman in the U. S. A. Yes, sir, she even takes her yarn to bed with her every night—and every now and so often she throws out a sock!"

Advice to wives from that sage old philosopher, Peter Lind Hayes: "Remember, girls, your hubby still gets a bang out of golf, hunting trips and all-night poker. Show him you're thinking of him! Speak of them occasionally!"

A gold digger, glittering in the international set, strutted into the Stork Club positively oozing diamonds from every pore. "Trouble with that girl," opined a lass with less taking ways, "is that she's getting too big for her brooches."

Travel In Russia

By Leslie Gould

(In the third of a series on his observations as a business writer of the Russian economy and trade war, Leslie Gould reports on the problems of a tourist and correspondents in general in gathering Russian news.)

Two questions are almost universally asked of the American visitor to Russia:

"An American?"

An affirmative answer brings this one:

"You like Russian people?"

From there on the conversation depends on the linguistic abilities of the Russian, for the native tongue is next to impossible for a visitor to grasp. A surprising number of Russians do speak English, and quiet fluently. They are mostly young people—college students and recent graduates.

About the only Russian words a short time visitor is able to pick up are numbers—ah-DEEN one; dvah — two; tree — three; chen-TIH-ryeh — four; pyant—five, and so on.

Pah-ZHAH-loos-tah — please.

Spah-SEE-buh — thanks.

Of course—dah - yes, and nyet-no.

Even with the English speaking guide, assigned to you there are language difficulties. For example, we wanted to buy some prints—preferably old ones. We had out guide in Leningrad write it out in Russian to show our guide in Moscow. This we did.

Leonna read it, but seemed puzzled and said:

"But I do not know of any."

When we insisted, she said she would speak to Intourist—which arranges everything for visitors—but added:

"There may be some noblemen, but I wouldn't know where."

Prints had been written Printz, meaning Prince.

On returning home, the questions run:

How was the food? The hotel accommodations? Were the Russians friendly? Were you continuously watched? Could you move about freely? Is there going to be war? How do the people dress?

Did you meet Khrushchev? Mikoyan? What are the stores like? How do the people live? Do women really do manual labor? Would you like to go back?

The food is all right—a little monotonous, for there is not much variety. There are few restaurants outside the hotels and nothing comparable to "21". Nor are the pre-World War I hotels comparable to even second class American accommodations. At one new hotel—a real skyscraper—in Moscow the service is poor and the food inferior.

One of the reasons for restricting travel by foreigners outside the few large cities is the lack of accommodations, as much as desires for secrecy.

We were allowed to go only to Leningrad, Moscow and Kiev. Trips to Gorky—the automobile center—and the Urals, where the greatest industrial development is supposed to be—were out of bounds. Also factories in Moscow and Leningrad, Intourist explaining:

"You are here as a tourist. If you had come as a journalist, you would be able to meet any of the leaders and travel more."

That's propaganda. The Soviet embassy in Washington recommended going as a tourist, otherwise—it was said—it would take months, maybe never, to get a visa. The Russians—the official ones, that is—don't like foreign newspapermen. Thinking as Russians, they believe American newspapermen are really secret agents as most Russian newspapermen working in other countries are.

Foreign correspondents headquartered in Moscow are limited as to their travel, and everything they write is subject to a strict—and at time ridiculous—censorship. The main sources for news are newspapers and their accounts of speeches of the various party leaders. It is a frustrating, tough assignment.

There is always the threat of expulsion, and when it comes to departures there can be harrassing delays, as the NBC's top commentator found as reprisal for a book—"Main Street, USSR". His exit visa was held up on one pretex or another for about two weeks.

One thing on going to Russia is to be sure to have all exit visa before crossing the border. This holds for all the Communist lands. Otherwise, the visitor can find bureaucratic red tape delaying departures.

Russia is run by the biggest and probably the most wasteful inefficient bureaucracy anywhere. It is like the army, where the sergeant passes the buck to the lieutenant, and he to the captain and so on up to the general.

A wrong bureaucratic authorization here can mean only a reprimand—if that. In Russia, it can mean Siberia and the salt mines, or for a top bureaucrat loss of the perquisities of the job—a car, a large apartment, servants, access to a restricted shop.

Barton's undefeated Braves reeled off their ninth win in the Twilight Baseball League yesterday when they downed Zihlman at Barton by the score of 6-2 in a contest in which each team was limited to five hits.

Louis Fazenbaker went all the way for the league leaders and notched his third victory of the campaign. He fanned four and walked four. Earl Gracie started on the mound for Zihlman and was relieved by Deffenbaugh in the fourth. Gracie was tagged with the loss.

George Lauder led the Barton hitters with a double and single while Woody Symons rapped a two-bagger. Among Zihlman's five safeties was a triple by Wayne Bridges.

Wilsons In Slab Duel

Midland's Indians eked out a 1-0 decision over Franklin at Westernport in the best played game of the day.

Hits by Ed Truly and Miller and an overthrow of first base produced the lone score of the game in the fifth inning and gave Jim Wilson the decision over Dave Wilson, Keyser High School pitching ace, making his league debut.

The Midland hurler tossed a 3-hitter, fanned three and did not issue a free pass. Lefty Dave Wilson gave up seven safeties, whiffed 13 and walked two.

J. Hill of Franklin smacked a triple and single and Miller had two singles for Midland.

Westernport Triumphs

Westernport exploded for six runs in the second inning and hung on for an 8-7 victory over Klondyke's Colts to remain one game back of the league leaders.

Billy Johnson, who came on in the second to relieve Donnie Wilkinson, received credit for the win, his second of the season. Jim Winters went the route for the Colts, fanned five and walked five.

Joe Niland and Ollie Smith accounted for four of Westernport's seven hits. One of Niland's blows was a triple. Junior Buskirk sparked the Klondyke offensive with a two-bagger and two singles while Bobby Mannick obtained a double and single.

Lonaconing rallied for four runs in the top of the 7th to hand Mt. Savage its 8th consecutive defeat, 7-3, at Mt. Savage.

Donald's Hit Decides

A triple by Carl Donald broke a 3-3 tie in the 7th and Bill Richmond climaxed the winning rally with a two-run homer. The latter also made two nice running catches in centerfield.

Donald had two singles in addition to his three-bagger, and Curtis Johnson had a pair of safeties. Bob Blank obtained two hits and Ken Brant blasted a triple for Mt. Savage.

Robinson And Skowron Show Power At Plate

Aaron And Kuenn Go Into Tailspin

By BEN OLAN,
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Robinson of Cincinnati and Bill Skowron of the New York Yankees did some powerful hitting while batting leaders Hank Aaron of Milwaukee and Harvey Kuenn of Detroit went into a tailspin during the final week of May.

Robinson drove in 10 runs to take over the National League RBI lead with 47. Skowron has batted in 14 runs in his last six games to move to within two of pace-setting Harmon Killebrew of Washington. Skowron has 37 and Killebrew, who also leads the American League in homers, has 39.

Gain On Mathews

Robinson also cracked five homers and moved into a second place tie with Aaron in the National League's home run competition. Each has 14. Eddie Mathews of the Braves leads with 16. He had two last week.

Meanwhile, Aaron lost 42 points with only seven hits in 32 times at bat. His average slumped from .461 to .419. Smoky Burgess of Pittsburgh remained in second place with a two point gain to .370, resulting from nine safeties in 24 tries. Willie Mays of San Francisco moved up two places to third on an eight point pickup to .339. Vada Pinson of Cincinnati also advanced two notches to fourth. The fleet Reds' outfielder climbed 10 points to .335 with an 11-for-28 showing.

Kuenn Drops 46

Kuenn, the American League leader, dropped 46 points. He managed only three hits in 24 efforts and showed a .354 mark through Sunday's games. Nelson Nellie Fox of the Chicago White Sox, the runner-up, also lost ground. He tailed off 19 points to .344 with five safe blows in 23 attempts. Al Kaline of Detroit remained in third place at .333.

Mickey Mantle of the Yankees and Gene Woodling of Baltimore made the most progress. Mantle zoomed 39 points, from .289 to .328, by collecting 12 hits in 23 trips (a .522 pace). Woodling moved up 29 points on a 12-for-28 performance.

Killebrew slammed three more homers last week for a season total of 18. He leads Rocky Colavito of Cleveland by five.

FILLY WINS FEATURE

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bobby Ussery steered Meticulous, the 4 to 5 favorite, past the tiring Lament inside the stretch at Belmont Park Monday and the four-year-old filly hung on to register a head victory in the featured $7,500 Virgini Purse.

San Francisco Easily Beats Braves, 11-2

Giants Send Eleven To Bat In 3d Frame

By RAY W. DOHERTY

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—The second-place San Francisco Giants kayoed the Milwaukee Braves, 11-2, Monday night in the opener of a four-game series to move to within a game and a half of the league leaders.

The Giants, with Sad Sam Jones checking the Braves on eight hits, made sure of the outcome early with a six-run explosion that sent Braves' starter Joey Jay to the showers in the third inning.

Eleven Bat In Third

Eleven Giants batted in the big third, getting three walks and five singles off Jay before he was lifted for Juan Pizarro. Jones batted in two of the runs when he looped a single to right with the bases loaded. He ended the rally a few moments later when he was tagged out at the plate on Willie Kirkland's single.

Pizarro held the eager Giants until the seventh when pinch batter Jackie Brandt singled in Leon Wagner from third base. The Giants rampaged for four more in the eighth highlighted by Andre Rodger's bases - clearing double.

Milwaukee catcher Del Rice was knocked out of action in the inning when he was hit by the sliding Willie Mays who was scampering home on Orlando Cepeda's double. A tentative examination showed that Rice suffered a bruised lower shin bone and he was sent to a Milwaukee hospital.

Jones had a five-hitter and a shutout until the sixth when Frank Torre singled with runners on second and third. Mays also was taken out of the lineup with shin bruises but he said he will be able to play Tuesday.

Milwaukee got its only two runs in the sixth when Frank Torre singled with men on second and third.

Tempers Flare

Tempers flared briefly in the seventh inning when Rice tagged out Daryl Spencer in a rundown between third and home. Spencer was momentarily stunned. Players from both teams gathered around the plate while Giants' trainer worked over Spencer who stayed in the game.

Milwaukee 000 002 000— 2 8 1

Snead, Palmer, Beman Qualify For Open Golf

Patton, Worsham And Sarazen Fail

By United Press International

Slammin' Sam Snead, aiming for the one major title he never has won, barely squeezed in Monday as a qualifier for the U.S. Open golf championship when he tied two others for the last of 12 berths available at Washington, D.C.

Snead posted 72-70--142 in a star studded field led by Walker Inman of Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., who fired 68-67--135 at the Congressional Country Club.

Washington was one of 13 sectional centers across the nation at which 477 golfers sought 131 berths in the Open championship scheduled June 11-13 at the Winged Foot club of Mamaroneck N.Y. Nineteen others, including defending champion Tommy Bolt and Ben Hogan, were exempt from the trials.

Beman Shoots 139

Ted Kroll of Sarasota, Fla., made it at Washington with 137 and Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., followed with 70-68--138. Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., newly crowned British amateur king, led the Washington amateurs with 72-67--139, qualifying easily.

Snead could have wasted one more shot and still landed in the U.S. Open field but it was too close for comfort as it was.

Patton Fails

Former Open champ Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa., with 144, was out of it and so was amateur Billy Joe Patton of Tarboro, N.C., at 145.

At Springfield, N.J., burly Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y., led a big field of 31 qualifiers with 68-69--137. Winner of the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas, Nev., Big Mike credited his fine play to a new diet that trimmed him from 220 to 195 pounds.

Doug Ford, Vic Ghezzi, Skee Riegel, Shelley Mayfield and Porky Oliver were among the New Jersey qualifiers. Bill Hyndman of Abington, Pa., runnerup in the British Amateur, made it easily with 72-71--143.

Sarazen Is Out

Veterans Gene Sarazen, twice Open champion, and ex-titleholder Tony Manero were among the failures at Springfield, along with Ellsworth Vines and Harry Cooper.

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of St. Louis failed to qualify by one shot in the Kansas City section where he shot 72-75--147. Jug McSpaden of Bethel, Kans., had a first round 82 and withdrew.

Joe DeMaestri's Hitting Defeats White Sox, 3-1

Bud Daley Notches 4th Win For K.C.

CHICAGO (UPI)—Shortstop Joe DeMaestri tripled to drive in one run, scored himself on a wild pitch and then hit his third homer of the season to furnish the scoring punch for a 3-1 Kansas City victory over the Chicago White Sox.

DeMaestri's two hits and a walk in four appearances gave him a .367 batting average for the season against Chicago, and .204 against the rest of the American League. His two runs batted in gave him 16 for the season, eight of them against Chicago.

Bud Daley, who shut out the Sox in his last appearance against them, scattered seven hits Monday. Chicago's lone run came on Luis Aparicio's double and Nellie Fox's single in the fourth. It was Daley's fourth win against three defeats.

DeMaestri's three-bagger came in the fifth after a single by Frank House. The A's shortstop scored easily himself when pitcher Ray Moore threw the ball into the dirt. Moore allowed eight hits in eight innings for his third loss against one win.

It was the seventh win for the Athletics in 10 games with the Sox, and the seventh loss in the last nine games for Chicago. The defeat kept the Sox a game behind league leading Cleveland and cut the Sox' margin over third-place Baltimore to half a game.

Cleveland Loses Chuck Kolakowski, Signed By Braves

The 6-1, 201-pound native of Reading, Pa., actually was signed to an Atlanta Cracker contract by Earl Mann, president of the class AA Southern Assn. team, who handled negotiations for the Braves.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick declared the big hurler a free agent when Cleveland exceeded the limit of 40 players under its control between Sept. 1 and May 15. The Indians had optioned him to Mobile but when they acquired infielder Jim Baxes and pitcher Bud Podbielan prior to May 15, they recalled Kolakowski and then assigned him outright to Mobile.

This deal, all on paper, violated the major league rule which states that a recalled player "must have reported to and remained in the active service of the optionee club at least 10 days of its season."

Barton's undefeated Braves reeled off their ninth win in the Twilight Baseball League yesterday when they downed Zihlman at Barton by the score of 6-2 in a contest in which each team was limited to five hits.

Louis Fazenbaker went all the way for the league leaders and notched his third victory of the campaign. He fanned four and walked four. Earl Gracie started on the mound for Zihlman and was relieved by Deffenbaugh in the fourth. Gracie was tagged with the loss.

George Lauder led the Barton hitters with a double and single while Woody Symons rapped a two-bagger. Among Zihlman's five safeties was a triple by Wayne Bridges.

Wilsons In Slab Duel

Midland's Indians eked out a 1-0 decision over Franklin at Westernport in the best played game of the day.

Hits by Ed Truly and Miller and an overthrow of first base produced the lone score of the game in the fifth inning and gave Jim Wilson the decision over Dave Wilson, Keyser High School pitching ace, making his league debut.

The Midland hurler tossed a 3-hitter, fanned three and did not issue a free pass. Lefty Dave Wilson gave up seven safeties, whiffed 13 and walked two.

J. Hill of Franklin smacked a triple and single and Miller had two singles for Midland.

Westernport Triumphs

Westernport exploded for six runs in the second inning and hung on for an 8-7 victory over Klondyke's Colts to remain one game back of the league leaders.

Billy Johnson, who came on in the second to relieve Donnie Wilkinson, received credit for the win, his second of the season. Jim Winters went the route for the Colts, fanned five and walked five.

Joe Niland and Ollie Smith accounted for four of Westernport's seven hits. One of Niland's blows was a triple. Junior Buskirk sparked the Klondyke offensive with a two-bagger and two singles while Bobby Mannick obtained a double and single.

Lonaconing rallied for four runs in the top of the 7th to hand Mt. Savage its 8th consecutive defeat, 7-3, at Mt. Savage.

Donald's Hit Decides

A triple by Carl Donald broke a 3-3 tie in the 7th and Bill Richmond climaxed the winning rally with a two-run homer. The latter also made two nice running catches in centerfield.

Donald had two singles in addition to his three-bagger, and Curtis Johnson had a pair of safeties. Bob Blank obtained two hits and Ken Brant blasted a triple for Mt. Savage.

Two games rained out last week are rescheduled for today at 5:30 p.m. Klondyke is billed to play at Zihlman while Midland will entertain Mt. Savage.

Robinson And Skowron Show Power At Plate

By BEN OLAN,
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Robinson of Cincinnati and Bill Skowron of the New York Yankees did some powerful hitting while batting leaders Hank Aaron of Milwaukee and Harvey Kuenn of Detroit went into a tailspin during the final week of May.

Robinson drove in 10 runs to take over the National League RBI lead with 47. Skowron has batted in 14 runs in his last six games to move to within two of pace-setting Harmon Killebrew of Washington. Skowron has 37 and Killebrew, who also leads the American League in homers, has 39.

Gain On Mathews

Robinson also cracked five homers and moved into a second place tie with Aaron in the National League's home run competition. Each has 14. Eddie Mathews of the Braves leads with 16. He had two last week.

Meanwhile, Aaron lost 42 points with only seven hits in 32 times at bat. His average slumped from .461 to .419. Smoky Burgess of Pittsburgh remained in second place with a two point gain to .370, resulting from nine safeties in 24 tries. Willie Mays of San Francisco moved up two places to third on an eight point pickup to .339. Vada Pinson of Cincinnati also advanced two notches to fourth. The fleet Reds' outfielder climbed 10 points to .335 with an 11-for-28 showing.

Kuenn Drops 46

Kuenn, the American League leader, dropped 46 points. He managed only three hits in 24 efforts and showed a .354 mark through Sunday's games. Nelson Nellie Fox of the Chicago White Sox, the runner-up, also lost ground. He tailed off 19 points to .344 with five safe blows in 23 attempts. Al Kaline of Detroit remained in third place at .333.

Mickey Mantle of the Yankees and Gene Woodling of Baltimore made the most progress. Mantle zoomed 39 points, from .289 to .328, by collecting 12 hits in 23 trips (a .522 pace). Woodling moved up 29 points on a 12-for-28 performance.

Killebrew slammed three more homers last week for a season total of 18. He leads Rocky Colavito of Cleveland by five.

FILLY WINS FEATURE

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bobby Ussery steered Meticulous, the 4 to 5 favorite, past the tiring Lament inside the stretch at Belmont Park Monday and the four-year-old filly hung on to register a head victory in the featured $7,500 Virgini Purse.

Giants Send Eleven To Bat In 3d Frame

By RAY W. DOHERTY

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—The second-place San Francisco Giants kayoed the Milwaukee Braves, 11-2, Monday night in the opener of a four-game series to move to within a game and a half of the league leaders.

The Giants, with Sad Sam Jones checking the Braves on eight hits, made sure of the outcome early with a six-run explosion that sent Braves' starter Joey Jay to the showers in the third inning.

Eleven Bat In Third

Eleven Giants batted in the big third, getting three walks and five singles off Jay before he was lifted for Juan Pizarro. Jones batted in two of the runs when he looped a single to right with the bases loaded. He ended the rally a few moments later when he was tagged out at the plate on Willie Kirkland's single.

Pizarro held the eager Giants until the seventh when pinch batter Jackie Brandt singled in Leon Wagner from third base. The Giants rampaged for four more in the eighth highlighted by Andre Rodger's bases - clearing double.

Milwaukee catcher Del Rice was knocked out of action in the inning when he was hit by the sliding Willie Mays who was scampering home on Orlando Cepeda's double. A tentative examination showed that Rice suffered a bruised lower shin bone and he was sent to a Milwaukee hospital.

Jones had a five-hitter and a shutout until the sixth when Frank Torre singled with runners on second and third. Mays also was taken out of the lineup with shin bruises but he said he will be able to play Tuesday.

Milwaukee got its only two runs in the sixth when Frank Torre singled with men on second and third.

Tempers Flare

Tempers flared briefly in the seventh inning when Rice tagged out Daryl Spencer in a rundown between third and home. Spencer was momentarily stunned. Players from both teams gathered around the plate while Giants' trainer worked over Spencer who stayed in the game.

Snead, Palmer, Beman Qualify For Open Golf

Patton, Worsham And Sarazen Fail

By United Press International

Slammin' Sam Snead, aiming for the one major title he never has won, barely squeezed in Monday as a qualifier for the U.S. Open golf championship when he tied two others for the last of 12 berths available at Washington, D.C.

Snead posted 72-70--142 in a star studded field led by Walker Inman of Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., who fired 68-67--135 at the Congressional Country Club.

Washington was one of 13 sectional centers across the nation at which 477 golfers sought 131 berths in the Open championship scheduled June 11-13 at the Winged Foot club of Mamaroneck N.Y. Nineteen others, including defending champion Tommy Bolt and Ben Hogan, were exempt from the trials.

Beman Shoots 139

Ted Kroll of Sarasota, Fla., made it at Washington with 137 and Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., followed with 70-68--138. Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., newly crowned British amateur king, led the Washington amateurs with 72-67--139, qualifying easily.

Snead could have wasted one more shot and still landed in the U.S. Open field but it was too close for comfort as it was.

Patton Fails

Former Open champ Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa., with 144, was out of it and so was amateur Billy Joe Patton of Tarboro, N.C., at 145.

At Springfield, N.J., burly Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y., led a big field of 31 qualifiers with 68-69--137. Winner of the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas, Nev., Big Mike credited his fine play to a new diet that trimmed him from 220 to 195 pounds.

Doug Ford, Vic Ghezzi, Skee Riegel, Shelley Mayfield and Porky Oliver were among the New Jersey qualifiers. Bill Hyndman of Abington, Pa., runnerup in the British Amateur, made it easily with 72-71--143.

Sarazen Is Out

Veterans Gene Sarazen, twice Open champion, and ex-titleholder Tony Manero were among the failures at Springfield, along with Ellsworth Vines and Harry Cooper.

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of St. Louis failed to qualify by one shot in the Kansas City section where he shot 72-75--147. Jug McSpaden of Bethel, Kans., had a first round 82 and withdrew.

Cleveland Loses Chuck Kolakowski, Signed By Braves

The 6-1, 201-pound native of Reading, Pa., actually was signed to an Atlanta Cracker contract by Earl Mann, president of the class AA Southern Assn. team, who handled negotiations for the Braves.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick declared the big hurler a free agent when Cleveland exceeded the limit of 40 players under its control between Sept. 1 and May 15. The Indians had optioned him to Mobile but when they acquired infielder Jim Baxes and pitcher Bud Podbielan prior to May 15, they recalled Kolakowski and then assigned him outright to Mobile.

This deal, all on paper, violated the major league rule which states that a recalled player "must have reported to and remained in the active service of the optionee club at least 10 days of its season."

Rabid Pittsburgh Rooters Are Talking Pennant Again

Pirates Have Won Eight Of Last 11 Tilts

Open Long Home Stand; Haddix To Pitch Tonight

By JOE BRADIS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Everybody knows a magician can do tricks. But how long can Danny Murtaugh keep up the magic with his Pittsburgh Pirates?

The answer may come in the two-week home stand that has this rabid baseball town talking pennant once again. It wasn't a few weeks ago.

But the last 11 games have changed the complexion of things and the Pirate management is licking its chops in anticipation that team is finally on its way.

It all started Friday a week ago with Murtaugh benching first baseman Dick Stuart and shortstop Dick Groat for a few games. Rocky Nelson took over at first and Dick Schofield played shortstop.

Win 8 Out Of 11

The Pirates promptly won eight out of 11—four straight from the Cincinnati Reds, one of three from Milwaukee and three of four more with the Reds.

One of the setbacks was a heartbreaking 1-0 loss to the Braves in 13 innings despite 12 perfect innings of pitching by southpaw Harvey Haddix.

Haddix was slated for his regular turn on the mound Sunday but Murtaugh said the little guy deserved an extra couple days' rest after his masterful performance.

Haddix Faces Cards

Haddix will pitch against the St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday night as the all important home stand opens. He'll be opposed by either Vinegar Bend Mizell or Larry Jackson. To whet their appetites, Pirate fans will see the Cards and Pirates complete a suspended game before the regular contest. The suspended game finds the Bucs trailing the Cards 2-1 in the bottom of the seventh.

Pirate fans are buzzing, particularly because of the booming bats of Bob Skinner, Smoky Burgess and Don Hoak. They've hit a total of 11 homers in the last four games, with Skinner getting five and Burgess and Hoak three apiece.

Roy Face Amazes

Pitcher Bob Friend finally won his first game after seven straight losses and Roy Face, the forkball specialist, continues to amaze with his fine relief hurling.

The Pirates are only 4½ games back of first place Milwaukee. If Murtaugh keeps up his magic, Pirate fans hope to see their first pennant winner since 1927.

Haddix To Get Tray And Twelve Silver Goblets

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—Harvey Haddix, Pittsburgh Pirate lefthander who lost to the Milwaukee Braves last Tuesday night after pitching 12 perfect innings, will receive a silver tray and 12 sterling silver goblets from the National League to commemorate his feat.

Warren Giles, president of the league, said the tray and goblets will be appropriately inscribed as a lasting memento of the unprecedented performance. Giles said the gift probably will be completed by June 10 and will be presented to Haddix at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, before June 14.

The goblets are to represent the 12 perfect innings pitched by Haddix. Each will be engraved with a play-by-play account of how Haddix set the Braves down in order in a particular inning.

The tray will be inscribed:

"To Harvey Haddix in recognition of his outstanding performance — unprecedented in baseball history — pitching 12 consecutive perfect innings game of May 26, 1959.

"Presented by National League of professional baseball clubs."

Giles talked with Haddix here during the week end. The league president suggested the tray and goblet theme but assured Haddix he was welcome to any other memento he might prefer.

"That will be a perfect remembrance. I couldn't think of anything I'd rather have to recall the occasion," Giles quoted Haddix as saying.

Shenandoah Downs Double Pays $611

Cortina Farm's Cort Bern won the opener paying $19.40 for $2, and Mrs. Jennie C. Bird's Bugaboo took the second race at $79.20, which also was the highest priced winner of the meeting.

A crowd of some 10,000 persons jammed the track, turning out for the first "appreciation night" during which a British made sports car was to be given away. Admission and parking were free.

Yost's 10th Home Run Puts Detroit Ahead In Fifth

DETROIT (UPI) —Paul Foytack gained revenge over the Cleveland Indians Monday when he pitched his first complete game in 11 tries to lead the Detroit Tigers to a five-hit, 3-1 victory.

Foytack pitched his best game of the year a little over a week ago but lost a heart-breaking two-hitter to the Tribe.

He pitched six perfect innings in that one before a pair of doubles beat him.

Gary Bell was on the mound that night and he was Foytack's opponent again Monday, but the Tiger right-hander got the better of it to win his third game against six losses.

Near Fourth Place

The victory moved Detroit within a half game of fourth place Kansas City, which was scheduled to play the Chicago White Sox Monday night. The Tigers are now 4½ games behind the league-leading Indians.

Cleveland grabbed a 1-0 lead in the second on singles by Vic Power and Woodie Held plus a sacrifice fly by Russ Nixon.

Foytack then scattered three singles the rest of the way, two by Minnie Minoso.

Yost Belts Tenth

The Tigers tied the score in the fourth on Charley Maxwell's single, a walk, a sacrifice and Lou Berberet's sacrifice fly. Eddie Yost put Detroit ahead in the fifth with his 10th home run of the year. It bettered his output for the past two seasons.

Foytack didn't walk a man for the first time this season and only the second time in his major league career. He struck out two batters.

Detroit's best looking starter in spring training, Foytack couldn't find the right combination when the season started and had trouble lasting even two innings in most of his starts.

His two-hit, 1-0 loss to the Indians saved him his starter's job as Manager Jimmie Dykes said he was going to send him to the bullpenn if he didn't come through with a good performance.

Wilhelm Could Cop ERA Titles In Two Leagues

Won In National In 1952 With 2.43

NEW YORK (AP) — Hoyt Wilhelm, the veteran knuckleballer who got off the relief rolls to enrich Baltimore's starting pitching staff, is in an excellent position to produce an unprecedented feat if he keeps up his present pace.

Wilhelm can become the first pitcher in history to win earned run championships in both major leagues.

Figures compiled by the Associated Press disclosed Monday that Wilhelm leads the American League with a 1.13 ERA. He captured the National League title in 1952 with a 2.43 average while relieving for the New York Giants. The 35-year-old right-hander has hurled scoreless ball in his last 22 innings. His record is 7-0.

Gene Conley of Philadelphia heads the National League with a 1.94 average.

Harvey Haddix of Pittsburgh reduced his earned run mark to 2.15 and moved into second place as a result of his perfect game for 12 innings (one hit in 13) effort against Milwaukee last Tuesday. Stu Miller of San Francisco, last season's National League earned run champion, is third with 2.35. Then come Johnny Antonelli of San Francisco with 2.46 and Warren Spahn of Milwaukee, 2.70.

Bud Daley of Kansas City is runner-up to Wilhelm in the American League with 1.57.

Bob Shaw of the White Sox, who has pitched a shutout against Boston, is third with 2.05. He is followed by Jerry Walker of Baltimore, 2.17, Skinny Brown, Baltimore, 2.25 and Ike Delock, Boston, 2.28.

Pucillo won in a close contest with Dave Scurlock, outstanding runner of the University of North Carolina track team. Pucillo had a total of 176 points to 146 for Scurlock. Points were scored on a 5-3-1 basis.

King Dixon, South Carolina halfback, track star, and student leader, was third. He received 86 points. Duke halfback Wray Carlton was fourth, and Deane Beman of Maryland, who won the British Amateur Golf Championship Saturday, was fifth.

English Derby Will Attract 500,000 Fans

Wednesday's 180th Event Is Richest

EPSOM, England (UPI)—Nearly 500,000 racing fans, including the royal family, will pack the grandstands and vantage points at Epsom Downs Wednesday for the 180th and richest running of the English Derby.

Wednesday's event will be the first $100,000 horse race ever staged in Britain. It will have a gross value of 42,680 sterling ($119,504) with $101,487 of the sum going to the owner of the winner.

There are two United States-owned colts entered in the mile-and-a-half classic. They are Dan Cupid, owned by Mrs. P.A.B. Widener of Philadelphia, and Arvak, owned by Josephine Paul of New York. Neither is given much chance to win.

A tremendous cheer will roll over the ancient course if another long-shot wins. He is Above Suspicion, a 25 to 1 shot who will carry Queen Elizabeth's royal purple and gold colors.

Tony Anthony Drops To 6th

NBA Rates Johnson As No. 1 Contender

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Tony Anthony was knocked off as number one contender for the light-heavyweight crown in the May ratings of the National Boxing Assn. as the result of his loss to Jesse Bowdry of St. Louis.

The NBA picked Bowdry as the May "boxer of the month" for his upset over Anthony, who had been ranked No. 1 to champion Archie Moore for nearly a year.

Harold Johnson of Philadelphia replaced Anthony as number one. Anthony dropped to sixth and Bowdry moved up to fifth. NBA Rating Chairman Fred Saddy called Bowdry's win "the biggest upset" in a month of upsets.

Listed by Saddy as "outstanding prospects to be watched in the future" were: 135-pound Ramundo Torres of Mexico, heavyweight Alonzo Johnson of Pittsburgh, 160-pound Rudy Ellis of Covert, Mich., 160-pound Victor Zalazav of Argentina, Hungary's Laszio Papp, 175-pound Orville Pitts of Milwaukee, and 147 - pound Joe Ngidi of South Africa.

Roy Face Amazes

Pitcher Bob Friend finally won his first game after seven straight losses and Roy Face, the forkball specialist, continues to amaze with his fine relief hurling.

The Pirates are only 4½ games back of first place Milwaukee. If Murtaugh keeps up his magic, Pirate fans hope to see their first pennant winner since 1927.

Haddix To Get Tray And Twelve Silver Goblets

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—Harvey Haddix, Pittsburgh Pirate lefthander who lost to the Milwaukee Braves last Tuesday night after pitching 12 perfect innings, will receive a silver tray and 12 sterling silver goblets from the National League to commemorate his feat.

Warren Giles, president of the league, said the tray and goblets will be appropriately inscribed as a lasting memento of the unprecedented performance. Giles said the gift probably will be completed by June 10 and will be presented to Haddix at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, before June 14.

The goblets are to represent the 12 perfect innings pitched by Haddix. Each will be engraved with a play-by-play account of how Haddix set the Braves down in order in a particular inning.

The tray will be inscribed:

"To Harvey Haddix in recognition of his outstanding performance — unprecedented in baseball history — pitching 12 consecutive perfect innings game of May 26, 1959.

"Pittsburgh

"Milwaukee

Giles talked with Haddix here during the week end. The league president suggested the tray and goblet theme but assured Haddix he was welcome to any other memento he might prefer.

"That will be a perfect remembrance. I couldn't think of anything I'd rather have to recall the occasion," Giles quoted Haddix as saying.

Frazier, Spriggs Toss No-Hitter In Little Loop

Today the Eagles will play the K. of C. at 6 p. m., in the second game of the campaign. Other teams in the six club circuit are the Republican Club and the Rotary Club. Yesterday's score:

Yost's 10th Home Run Puts Detroit Ahead In Fifth

DETROIT (UPI) —Paul Foytack gained revenge over the Cleveland Indians Monday when he pitched his first complete game in 11 tries to lead the Detroit Tigers to a five-hit, 3-1 victory.

Foytack pitched his best game of the year a little over a week ago but lost a heart-breaking two-hitter to the Tribe.

He pitched six perfect innings in that one before a pair of doubles beat him.

Gary Bell was on the mound that night and he was Foytack's opponent again Monday, but the Tiger right-hander got the better of it to win his third game against six losses.

Near Fourth Place

The victory moved Detroit within a half game of fourth place Kansas City, which was scheduled to play the Chicago White Sox Monday night. The Tigers are now 4½ games behind the league-leading Indians.

Cleveland grabbed a 1-0 lead in the second on singles by Vic Power and Woodie Held plus a sacrifice fly by Russ Nixon.

Yost Belts Tenth

The Tigers tied the score in the fourth on Charley Maxwell's single, a walk, a sacrifice and Lou Berberet's sacrifice fly. Eddie Yost put Detroit ahead in the fifth with his 10th home run of the year. It bettered his output for the past two seasons.

Foytack didn't walk a man for the first time this season and only the second time in his major league career. He struck out two batters.

Detroit's best looking starter in spring training, Foytack couldn't find the right combination when the season started and had trouble lasting even two innings in most of his starts.

His two-hit, 1-0 loss to the Indians saved him his starter's job as Manager Jimmie Dykes said he was going to send him to the bullpenn if he didn't come through with a good performance.

Won In National In 1952 With 2.43

NEW YORK (AP) — Hoyt Wilhelm, the veteran knuckleballer who got off the relief rolls to enrich Baltimore's starting pitching staff, is in an excellent position to produce an unprecedented feat if he keeps up his present pace.

Wilhelm can become the first pitcher in history to win earned run championships in both major leagues.

Figures compiled by the Associated Press disclosed Monday that Wilhelm leads the American League with a 1.13 ERA. He captured the National League title in 1952 with a 2.43 average while relieving for the New York Giants. The 35-year-old right-hander has hurled scoreless ball in his last 22 innings. His record is 7-0.

Harvey Haddix of Pittsburgh reduced his earned run mark to 2.15 and moved into second place as a result of his perfect game for 12 innings (one hit in 13) effort against Milwaukee last Tuesday. Stu Miller of San Francisco, last season's National League earned run champion, is third with 2.35. Then come Johnny Antonelli of San Francisco with 2.46 and Warren Spahn of Milwaukee, 2.70.

Bud Daley of Kansas City is runner-up to Wilhelm in the American League with 1.57.

Bob Shaw of the White Sox, who has pitched a shutout against Boston, is third with 2.05. He is followed by Jerry Walker of Baltimore, 2.17, Skinny Brown, Baltimore, 2.25 and Ike Delock, Boston, 2.28.

Lou Pucillo Wins Top Award In ACC

Lou Pucillo, 5-foot-9 captain of North Carolina State's basketball champions, was voted the annual Anthony J. McKelvin award by members of the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Assn. Seventy-three members participated in the voting.

Pucillo won in a close contest with Dave Scurlock, outstanding runner of the University of North Carolina track team. Pucillo had a total of 176 points to 146 for Scurlock. Points were scored on a 5-3-1 basis.

King Dixon, South Carolina halfback, track star, and student leader, was third. He received 86 points. Duke halfback Wray Carlton was fourth, and Deane Beman of Maryland, who won the British Amateur Golf Championship Saturday, was fifth.

CCC GOLF CHAMP — Joe Wolfe, well known basketball referee, is the spring handicap champion of the Men's Golf Association at the Cumberland Country Club for 1959. Wolfe defeated Orville "Stony" Jackson, 1 up in the 18-hole final of the 37th tournament on Sunday. It was the first time that Wolfe had won a championship at the local club.

English Derby Will Attract 500,000 Fans

Wednesday's 180th Event Is Richest

EPSOM, England (UPI)—Nearly 500,000 racing fans, including the royal family, will pack the grandstands and vantage points at Epsom Downs Wednesday for the 180th and richest running of the English Derby.

Wednesday's event will be the first $100,000 horse race ever staged in Britain. It will have a gross value of 42,680 sterling ($119,504) with $101,487 of the sum going to the owner of the winner.

There are two United States-owned colts entered in the mile-and-a-half classic. They are Dan Cupid, owned by Mrs. P.A.B. Widener of Philadelphia, and Arvak, owned by Josephine Paul of New York. Neither is given much chance to win.

A tremendous cheer will roll over the ancient course if another long-shot wins. He is Above Suspicion, a 25 to 1 shot who will carry Queen Elizabeth's royal purple and gold colors.

Tony Anthony Drops To 6th

NBA Rates Johnson As No. 1 Contender

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Tony Anthony was knocked off as number one contender for the light-heavyweight crown in the May ratings of the National Boxing Assn. as the result of his loss to Jesse Bowdry of St. Louis.

The NBA picked Bowdry as the May "boxer of the month" for his upset over Anthony, who had been ranked No. 1 to champion Archie Moore for nearly a year.

Harold Johnson of Philadelphia replaced Anthony as number one. Anthony dropped to sixth and Bowdry moved up to fifth. NBA Rating Chairman Fred Saddy called Bowdry's win "the biggest upset" in a month of upsets.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Jack Palance, in Paris, took it on himself to offer Simone Signoret the lead in his next, "The Smile of a Woman," and then telephoned Producer Philip Waxman, in Hollywood, what he had done. "That's okay with me," laughed Waxman, "if we can get Miss Signoret I don't care who does the negotiating." That's how hot Simone is after "Room at the Top."

"Smile of a Woman" is about a master forger who steals the masterpiece, the Mona Lisa, from the Louvre, substituting a forgery. This isn't as fantastic as it sounds. In 1911 the Mona Lisa was stolen and was not found for two years. N. Richard Nash, who scripted "Porgy and Bess" wrote the original screen treatment.

Columbia, MGM and 20th Century-Fox were all dangling contracts before the good looking Italian but he's actually been signed by Jack Cummings. He has one of the top roles in "The Blue Angel," and it seems likely he'll get "The King Must Die." He's just what the doctor ordered.

Since it was Joanne Woodward who brought "The Dud Avocado" tc the attention of Walter Wanger at 20th Century-Fox, she is the girl most wanted for the lead. But unfortunately "Orpheus Descending," now being made in New York, will interfere.

Phillip Dunne, who will direct, is also assisting Edith Summer in writing the adaptation. The book which had a large sale, was sent to me by Walter and I enjoyed it. It's by Elaine Dundy Tynan, wife of the New Yorker magazine movie critic Kenneth Tynan.

Whatever else you may think or say about Suzy Parker, she has an extravagant sense of humor. She told a newspaper friend of mine not to ask her any serious questions because she's a pathological liar. "I would say one thing and mean another," she said.

But she wasn't kidding when she informed my friend that her husband, Pierre La Salle, has received an assignment to do a picture layout of her for Paris Match. Pierre could have done it in Paris just as well because he and Suzy are going back there as soon as she completes "The Best of Everything," but he prefers to do it here.

The real reason that Sheilah Madison didn't accompany Guy to Mexico City where he is making "Jet Over the Atlantic" for Ben Bogeaus, is because she suffered a spinal injury and had to have an operation.

Sheilah was posing for a magazine layout when she went down a slide and injured the end of her spine. She's doing OK now, and as soon as she's able to travel she'll take the three children on a trip to Ireland while Guy is busy here on his TV series.

Hope Lange tells me that if I find a tow-headed, 2-year-old boy in my car some day when it's parked out in front, just call him Christopher. Because, says Hope, her son has to be dragged away from my house when he sees the car in front, and when the maid takes him walking by he wants to leave her and get in the car.

I hope next time he'll just ring my front doorbell and come and see me, and I'll take him out riding. He's a dear little boy, and all the children in the neighborhood who used to pay me visits are growing up. After living in the same house for a quarter of a century, I have seen many of them come and go.

City Adopts 'Hands Off' Trailer Policy

The Mayor and Council yesterday took a "hands off" attitude toward a proposal to connect a small trailer park facility on Creek Road into the city's sewer system.

Attorney Fred H. Anderson, who said he was acting for George R. McGee, asked the cost of the line and tappage for the five-unit trailer park which McGee plans to establish in the rear of his home.

However, City Attorney William R. Carscaden, said any such move by the city should be given much thought. He said if this is granted, others in the future might find the city in the same position as it is today — giving services to people who live outside the city.

Things like this proposal, he added, need planning and can't be done piecemeal. He said the city is presently selling water to some communities outside the city. In the case of Bowling Green which uses city water, if a line breaks the city must repair it, he added.

"I don't believe we want to get involved in any more situations like that," Carscaden said.

Later in the meeting, council heard a request from Charles Romine, 1702 Holland Street, to explain why residents must pay for using the minimum water rate for 2,000 gallons when during the quarter they used only 1,000 gallons.

Romine was told by City Attorney William R. Carscaden, Water Commissioner G. Ray Light and City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson that minimum rates are set by ordinance and that such is "standard procedure" in all U. S. cities.

Romine contended that a resident should be able to accumulate water for use when he does not use the minimum amount allowed.

Light in explaining why the minimum rates are necessary, said the Water Department is self-sustaining and depends upon income from water rates to operate. He said at budget time, the set minimum rates allow the department to know how far it can go in providing services.

Democrats Take Over Election Unit

As the result of last November's victory at the polls the Democrats assumed control. Matthew J. Mullaney, who was the minority member of the board six years, was elected chairman.

Julius E. Schindler, local lawyer, was sworn in as attorney to the board. Other Democrats who took over were John R. Kelly, chief clerk and registrar; William P. Kelly, of Lonaconing, clerk to the board and Glenn Sonner, city, messenger.

Irvin J. Neat was appointed Republican registrar, Graydon Dunlap, voting machine custodian, Alvin Gentry, deputy voting machine custodian, and Francis P. Thompson, substitute Democrat registrar.

Mrs. Ursula D. Smith, city, a Democrat, takes over as clerk-typist for the board replacing Mrs. Janet C. Lancaster, who has held that position for seven years. She was named substitute Republican registrar.

The new board members were sworn into office by Deputy Clerk of Circuit Court James Halloran. A letter is being forwarded to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners notifying them the personnel of the Election Board were placed on the payroll as of yesterday.

Fines Total $1,727

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming told the Mayor and Council yesterday the department made 787 arrests last month and fines totaled $1,727. The Fire Department responded 35 times. Only minor damage was reported.

City Increases Salary Of Recreation Director

Council, after consideration extending over a five-week period, passed an order increasing the salary of Recreation Director C. Eugene Mason from $4,500 a year to $5,000 and placed the position under Civil Service. In the absence of a Recreation Board, council's order read that the director shall serve under the Mayor and Council.

The order placed the position under Civil Service for the first time and removes it from the jurisdiction of the Department of Streets and Public Property.

Street Commissioner John J. Long suggested that steps be taken immediately to change Mason's contract and any ordinances which would be affected by the order today.

Miss Cavanaugh is one of those certified by the Civil Service Commission in examinations conducted May 18. A report on the result of those tests was submitted yesterday.

Certified for the position of switchboard operator in addition to Miss Cavanaugh who has been serving in a temporary capacity, are Miriam E. Jackson, Genevieve L. Seifert, Vivian C. McGreevey and Dorothy M. Wolford.

Certified eligible for appointment as fireman lieutenant are Robert R. Gormer, Kenneth H. Castle, Ralph E. Mahaney, Frederick A. Pfeiffer Jr., Calvin H. Wilt, John J. Carney and Robert H. Meister.

Council increased the salary of Acting Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney from $360 a month to $455.50 a month, making the necessary adjustment as the result of his appointment to replace former Chief R. Emmett Flynn who asked for retirement two weeks ago and is officially retired effective yesterday. He has accepted a position with the State Roads Commission.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech welcomed into the city's "official family" the new sanitary engineer, Franklin J. Blaney, who came here Sunday from Wadsworth, Ohio, to assume his duties today. Keech said later council will sign a six-month probationary contract with Blaney who will reside in a city-owned dwelling at Lake Gordon.

32 Ursuline Seniors To Graduate Today

Thirty-two seniors of Ursuline Academy will receive their diplomas today at 7:30 p. m. in commencement exercises in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church.

Rev. David Dressman, OFM, Cap., a native of here, and pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Dover, Del., will present diplomas and awards.

Rev. John Moore, M. M., assistant pastor and Church of the Transfiguration, New York, will deliver the address and act as deacon to Father David. Rev. DePaul Ripko, OFM, Cap., will be subdeacon.

Today at 8 a. m. the closing Mass will be sung by Father David and the graduates will receive Holy Communion. Afterwards, a breakfast sponsored by the Ursuline Sisters, the faculty, will be served in the parish hall by the junior class.

Father DePaul was speaker and Celeste Madden, senior class president, gave the response at the breakfast following the 8:15 a. m. Mass.

Friday, the annual May procession was held in the church and Rita Dressman, senior, crowned by the statue of the Blessed Mother while Kathy Cumiskey was crownbearer. Grace Helmstetter, Barbara Byer, Judy Newman and Judy Firlie carried the statue in the procession.

It was announced that Mary Lou Kelley, a member of the class, has received a scholarship to Catherman's Business School. It is sponsored by the Algonquin Chapter of the National Secretaries Association.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Jack Palance, in Paris, took it on himself to offer Simone Signoret the lead in his next, "The Smile of a Woman," and then telephoned Producer Philip Waxman, in Hollywood, what he had done. "That's okay with me," laughed Waxman, "if we can get Miss Signoret I don't care who does the negotiating." That's how hot Simone is after "Room at the Top."

"Smile of a Woman" is about a master forger who steals the masterpiece, the Mona Lisa, from the Louvre, substituting a forgery. This isn't as fantastic as it sounds. In 1911 the Mona Lisa was stolen and was not found for two years. N. Richard Nash, who scripted "Porgy and Bess" wrote the original screen treatment.

Columbia, MGM and 20th Century-Fox were all dangling contracts before the good looking Italian but he's actually been signed by Jack Cummings. He has one of the top roles in "The Blue Angel," and it seems likely he'll get "The King Must Die." He's just what the doctor ordered.

Since it was Joanne Woodward who brought "The Dud Avocado" tc the attention of Walter Wanger at 20th Century-Fox, she is the girl most wanted for the lead. But unfortunately "Orpheus Descending," now being made in New York, will interfere.

Phillip Dunne, who will direct, is also assisting Edith Summer in writing the adaptation. The book which had a large sale, was sent to me by Walter and I enjoyed it. It's by Elaine Dundy Tynan, wife of the New Yorker magazine movie critic Kenneth Tynan.

Whatever else you may think or say about Suzy Parker, she has an extravagant sense of humor. She told a newspaper friend of mine not to ask her any serious questions because she's a pathological liar. "I would say one thing and mean another," she said.

But she wasn't kidding when she informed my friend that her husband, Pierre La Salle, has received an assignment to do a picture layout of her for Paris Match. Pierre could have done it in Paris just as well because he and Suzy are going back there as soon as she completes "The Best of Everything," but he prefers to do it here.

The real reason that Sheilah Madison didn't accompany Guy to Mexico City where he is making "Jet Over the Atlantic" for Ben Bogeaus, is because she suffered a spinal injury and had to have an operation.

Sheilah was posing for a magazine layout when she went down a slide and injured the end of her spine. She's doing OK now, and as soon as she's able to travel she'll take the three children on a trip to Ireland while Guy is busy here on his TV series.

Hope Lange tells me that if I find a tow-headed, 2-year-old boy in my car some day when it's parked out in front, just call him Christopher. Because, says Hope, her son has to be dragged away from my house when he sees the car in front, and when the maid takes him walking by he wants to leave her and get in the car.

I hope next time he'll just ring my front doorbell and come and see me, and I'll take him out riding. He's a dear little boy, and all the children in the neighborhood who used to pay me visits are growing up. After living in the same house for a quarter of a century, I have seen many of them come and go.

City Adopts 'Hands Off' Trailer Policy

The Mayor and Council yesterday took a "hands off" attitude toward a proposal to connect a small trailer park facility on Creek Road into the city's sewer system.

Attorney Fred H. Anderson, who said he was acting for George R. McGee, asked the cost of the line and tappage for the five-unit trailer park which McGee plans to establish in the rear of his home.

However, City Attorney William R. Carscaden, said any such move by the city should be given much thought. He said if this is granted, others in the future might find the city in the same position as it is today — giving services to people who live outside the city.

Things like this proposal, he added, need planning and can't be done piecemeal. He said the city is presently selling water to some communities outside the city. In the case of Bowling Green which uses city water, if a line breaks the city must repair it, he added.

"I don't believe we want to get involved in any more situations like that," Carscaden said.

Later in the meeting, council heard a request from Charles Romine, 1702 Holland Street, to explain why residents must pay for using the minimum water rate for 2,000 gallons when during the quarter they used only 1,000 gallons.

Romine was told by City Attorney William R. Carscaden, Water Commissioner G. Ray Light and City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson that minimum rates are set by ordinance and that such is "standard procedure" in all U. S. cities.

Romine contended that a resident should be able to accumulate water for use when he does not use the minimum amount allowed.

Light in explaining why the minimum rates are necessary, said the Water Department is self-sustaining and depends upon income from water rates to operate. He said at budget time, the set minimum rates allow the department to know how far it can go in providing services.

Democrats Take Over Election Unit

As the result of last November's victory at the polls the Democrats assumed control. Matthew J. Mullaney, who was the minority member of the board six years, was elected chairman.

Julius E. Schindler, local lawyer, was sworn in as attorney to the board. Other Democrats who took over were John R. Kelly, chief clerk and registrar; William P. Kelly, of Lonaconing, clerk to the board and Glenn Sonner, city, messenger.

Irvin J. Neat was appointed Republican registrar, Graydon Dunlap, voting machine custodian, Alvin Gentry, deputy voting machine custodian, and Francis P. Thompson, substitute Democrat registrar.

Mrs. Ursula D. Smith, city, a Democrat, takes over as clerk-typist for the board replacing Mrs. Janet C. Lancaster, who has held that position for seven years. She was named substitute Republican registrar.

The new board members were sworn into office by Deputy Clerk of Circuit Court James Halloran. A letter is being forwarded to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners notifying them the personnel of the Election Board were placed on the payroll as of yesterday.

Fines Total $1,727

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming told the Mayor and Council yesterday the department made 787 arrests last month and fines totaled $1,727. The Fire Department responded 35 times. Only minor damage was reported.

City Increases Salary Of Recreation Director

Council, after consideration extending over a five-week period, passed an order increasing the salary of Recreation Director C. Eugene Mason from $4,500 a year to $5,000 and placed the position under Civil Service. In the absence of a Recreation Board, council's order read that the director shall serve under the Mayor and Council.

The order placed the position under Civil Service for the first time and removes it from the jurisdiction of the Department of Streets and Public Property.

Street Commissioner John J. Long suggested that steps be taken immediately to change Mason's contract and any ordinances which would be affected by the order today.

In another personnel move, council named Miss Nancy Maureen Cavanaugh as switchboard operator at a salary of $165 a month.

Miss Cavanaugh is one of those certified by the Civil Service Commission in examinations conducted May 18. A report on the result of those tests was submitted yesterday.

Certified for the position of switchboard operator in addition to Miss Cavanaugh who has been serving in a temporary capacity, are Miriam E. Jackson, Genevieve L. Seifert, Vivian C. McGreevey and Dorothy M. Wolford.

Certified eligible for appointment as fireman lieutenant are Robert R. Gormer, Kenneth H. Castle, Ralph E. Mahaney, Frederick A. Pfeiffer Jr., Calvin H. Wilt, John J. Carney and Robert H. Meister.

Council increased the salary of Acting Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney from $360 a month to $455.50 a month, making the necessary adjustment as the result of his appointment to replace former Chief R. Emmett Flynn who asked for retirement two weeks ago and is officially retired effective yesterday. He has accepted a position with the State Roads Commission.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech welcomed into the city's "official family" the new sanitary engineer, Franklin J. Blaney, who came here Sunday from Wadsworth, Ohio, to assume his duties today. Keech said later council will sign a six-month probationary contract with Blaney who will reside in a city-owned dwelling at Lake Gordon.

32 Ursuline Seniors To Graduate Today

Thirty-two seniors of Ursuline Academy will receive their diplomas today at 7:30 p. m. in commencement exercises in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church.

Rev. David Dressman, OFM, Cap., a native of here, and pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Dover, Del., will present diplomas and awards.

Rev. John Moore, M. M., assistant pastor and Church of the Transfiguration, New York, will deliver the address and act as deacon to Father David. Rev. DePaul Ripko, OFM, Cap., will be subdeacon.

Today at 8 a. m. the closing Mass will be sung by Father David and the graduates will receive Holy Communion. Afterwards, a breakfast sponsored by the Ursuline Sisters, the faculty, will be served in the parish hall by the junior class.

Father DePaul was speaker and Celeste Madden, senior class president, gave the response at the breakfast following the 8:15 a. m. Mass.

Friday, the annual May procession was held in the church and Rita Dressman, senior, crowned by the statue of the Blessed Mother while Kathy Cumiskey was crownbearer. Grace Helmstetter, Barbara Byer, Judy Newman and Judy Firlie carried the statue in the procession.

It was announced that Mary Lou Kelley, a member of the class, has received a scholarship to Catherman's Business School. It is sponsored by the Algonquin Chapter of the National Secretaries Association.

Legion Hopes Parades Will Be Continued In City

Commander Paul W. Weisenmiller yesterday wrote the Mayor and Council to take issue in part with a letter submitted several weeks ago by the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce. The chamber's letter had suggested that parade permits be issued only on evenings when stores are closed. The Armed Forces Day parade was held on Monday night, May 11.

"Parades stimulate patriotism in young and old alike," the Legion letter stated. "Parades are usually held to commemorate some important event in our Nation's history or to emphasize some phase of our national life. Usually, the day on which it is held is a significant date and we do not feel that the competition of the market place should predominate over our American heritage."

In another matter, council agreed to cooperate with the Junior Association of Commerce which has formed a committee to maintain contact with it and report to its Board of Directors on activities of the Mayor and Council.

The group also offered itself to council for the betterment of the community. Members are John D. May and Albert J. Lawler, co-chairmen, James L. Conlon, Bruce Douglas, Frederick Hill and Lee Emerick. The group said at least one of its members hopes to attend each council session.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech and City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery were authorized to execute a deed to the Housing Authority of Cumberland conveying Lots 111, 112, 113, 114 and 115 of the Margaret M. Black Addition, site of the former Lamont Street Playground, which has been taken for the city's third low-rent housing project.

The conveyance is made with the understanding that the authority will establish a playground of comparable size, blacktopped and under the direction of the Recreation Department. The authority must also convey a small portion of the former playground to the State Roads Commission without consideration as an access to the Industrial Boulevard.

Council approved a Hot Stove League request to sell tickets for its Booster Game from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m. Saturday; agreed to a request from Chairman Harry S. Tracy that city officials greet state dignitaries during the Maryland-Delaware-District of Columbia Elks Association convention here July 30-31 and August 1-2; and granted the pool room permit of James William LeBeck at 33 North Liberty Street.

A proclamation was issued naming June 8-14 as "National Flag Week" in connection with the observance of The Star Spangled Banner Flag Association.

Youth Injured In Auto Crash

Admitted to Memorial Hospital at 1:20 a. m. was Gary Wayne Shriver, 20, of RD 1, Ridgeley, who was reported in "good" condition at noon today.

Treated at the hospital for minor injuries were Ronnie Moreland, 18, of RD 1, Ridgeley, and William Lease, 29, Bowman's Addition, who were passengers in the Shriver car.

City police, who investigated, said Shriver was traveling on Maryland Avenue when he struck a parked car owned by Harold W. Davis, 627 Maryland Avenue.

Officer Joseph Nelson, who investigated along with Officers Charles Snider and Richard L. Maiers, said both the Kreitzburg and Shriver cars were demolished. Minor property damage was caused to Davis' vehicle.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East

Opening lead: Four of ♠.

A subtle bit of false carding was employed by West to steal a game contract from his vulnerable adversary, today. Our impulse is to sympathize with the poor victim, but here are the facts for the reader to judge himself.

It will be seen that on the combined holding four hearts was the superior contract. Ordinarily with a holding of a four card major suit and a singleton, the responder will use the two club convention asking the opening no trumper to show a major suit. Although this particular North-South pair were not employing the convention, a response of three clubs by North might still have induced his partner to show the hearts.

West opened the four of spades and East's king was permitted to hold. South won the continuation and the five club tricks were then run. East followed twice and then discarded the nine, four, and five of diamonds, to announce possession of the ace, so that partner would not discard any spades in an attempt to guard some diamond honor. On the third club West let go the two of diamonds. He then shed the ten, followed by the queen.

Declarer was now apparently left to a heart finesse, but to him it appeared that there was a safer way to bring in the ninth trick. West appeared to be out of diamonds. He is known to have had just two clubs and evidently started with five spades, that would leave him with three hearts, one of which very likely was the queen. At any rate if he is permitted to cash his remaining four spades he will presumably have nothing to return but a heart, so declarer exited with a spade. West ran his spade tricks at the end of which declarer triumphantly spread his hand, but to his chagrin West produced a diamond to return to his partner for the setting trick.

Friends Aware To Meet Today

Officers will be elected and plans made for summer and day camps at the regular meeting of Cumberland Chapter Friends Aware of Handicapped Children today at 7:30 p. m. at the Board of Education Building, Washington Street.

Thursday at 8 p. m. at Lincoln School, the county chapter of Friends Aware will hold its second annual election of officers and hear a report of the first annual convention of the state affiliate of the National Association of Retarded Children.

Legion Hopes Parades Will Be Continued In City

Commander Paul W. Weisenmiller yesterday wrote the Mayor and Council to take issue in part with a letter submitted several weeks ago by the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce. The chamber's letter had suggested that parade permits be issued only on evenings when stores are closed. The Armed Forces Day parade was held on Monday night, May 11.

"Parades stimulate patriotism in young and old alike," the Legion letter stated. "Parades are usually held to commemorate some important event in our Nation's history or to emphasize some phase of our national life. Usually, the day on which it is held is a significant date and we do not feel that the competition of the market place should predominate over our American heritage."

In another matter, council agreed to cooperate with the Junior Association of Commerce which has formed a committee to maintain contact with it and report to its Board of Directors on activities of the Mayor and Council.

The group also offered itself to council for the betterment of the community. Members are John D. May and Albert J. Lawler, co-chairmen, James L. Conlon, Bruce Douglas, Frederick Hill and Lee Emerick. The group said at least one of its members hopes to attend each council session.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech and City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery were authorized to execute a deed to the Housing Authority of Cumberland conveying Lots 111, 112, 113, 114 and 115 of the Margaret M. Black Addition, site of the former Lamont Street Playground, which has been taken for the city's third low-rent housing project.

The conveyance is made with the understanding that the authority will establish a playground of comparable size, blacktopped and under the direction of the Recreation Department. The authority must also convey a small portion of the former playground to the State Roads Commission without consideration as an access to the Industrial Boulevard.

Council approved a Hot Stove League request to sell tickets for its Booster Game from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m. Saturday; agreed to a request from Chairman Harry S. Tracy that city officials greet state dignitaries during the Maryland-Delaware-District of Columbia Elks Association convention here July 30-31 and August 1-2; and granted the pool room permit of James William LeBeck at 33 North Liberty Street.

A proclamation was issued naming June 8-14 as "National Flag Week" in connection with the observance of The Star Spangled Banner Flag Association.

Youth Injured In Auto Crash

A Ridgeley youth was hospitalized and two other persons injured in an accident early yesterday on Maryland Avenue.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital at 1:20 a. m. was Gary Wayne Shriver, 20, of RD 1, Ridgeley, who was reported in "good" condition at noon today.

Treated at the hospital for minor injuries were Ronnie Moreland, 18, of RD 1, Ridgeley, and William Lease, 29, Bowman's Addition, who were passengers in the Shriver car.

City police, who investigated, said Shriver was traveling on Maryland Avenue when he struck a parked car owned by Harold W. Davis, 627 Maryland Avenue.

Officer Joseph Nelson, who investigated along with Officers Charles Snider and Richard L. Maiers, said both the Kreitzburg and Shriver cars were demolished. Minor property damage was caused to Davis' vehicle.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East

Opening lead: Four of ♠.

A subtle bit of false carding was employed by West to steal a game contract from his vulnerable adversary, today. Our impulse is to sympathize with the poor victim, but here are the facts for the reader to judge himself.

It will be seen that on the combined holding four hearts was the superior contract. Ordinarily with a holding of a four card major suit and a singleton, the responder will use the two club convention asking the opening no trumper to show a major suit. Although this particular North-South pair were not employing the convention, a response of three clubs by North might still have induced his partner to show the hearts.

West opened the four of spades and East's king was permitted to hold. South won the continuation and the five club tricks were then run. East followed twice and then discarded the nine, four, and five of diamonds, to announce possession of the ace, so that partner would not discard any spades in an attempt to guard some diamond honor. On the third club West let go the two of diamonds. He then shed the ten, followed by the queen.

Declarer was now apparently left to a heart finesse, but to him it appeared that there was a safer way to bring in the ninth trick. West appeared to be out of diamonds. He is known to have had just two clubs and evidently started with five spades, that would leave him with three hearts, one of which very likely was the queen. At any rate if he is permitted to cash his remaining four spades he will presumably have nothing to return but a heart, so declarer exited with a spade. West ran his spade tricks at the end of which declarer triumphantly spread his hand, but to his chagrin West produced a diamond to return to his partner for the setting trick.

Friends Aware To Meet Today

Officers will be elected and plans made for summer and day camps at the regular meeting of Cumberland Chapter Friends Aware of Handicapped Children today at 7:30 p. m. at the Board of Education Building, Washington Street.

Thursday at 8 p. m. at Lincoln School, the county chapter of Friends Aware will hold its second annual election of officers and hear a report of the first annual convention of the state affiliate of the National Association of Retarded Children.

Market Closes Lower As Late Selling Develops

NEW YORK (UPI)— Stocks suffered their first decline in a week when, after a promising advance failed to generate any real demand, selling developed just before the close.

All leading groups closed slightly lower on average and, of a total 1,184 issues traded, 559 closed in lower ground while 411 were higher on the day.

Electronics provided much of the day's interest and, despite late selling in the group, Zenith closed with a gain of 5¼ at 127¼ in second spot on the active list. It touched a new high of 130 at its best. International Business Machines, touched a high of 481 but closed at 460, off 10 points net. Motorola was down 3¼, Admiral 1⅞.

Camera issues also were in demand. Bell & Howell and Polaroid rose 3 or more, Eastman Kodak over a point.

Chicago Grains

At the close, wheat was off ⅛ to ¼; corn unchanged to up ½; oats off ⅛ to up ⅜; new oats unchanged to up ½; rye up ⅝ to ⅞; soybeans off ⅛ to 1.

Wheat prices were easier on some commission house liquidation. There was early hedge selling as well as local selling. Commission houses bought on the decline. Combines were reported operating in parts of Texas and Oklahoma.

Corn was easier. An elevator house broker and a floor trader sold July. There was fair commission house demand, and some exporters bought. Planting neared completion in some areas, and soil conditions were reported favorable for growth. Export acceptances on subsidy bids were 920,000 bushels.

Oats were mixed, with some commercial support and scattered selling. Export subsidies were granted on 140,000 bushels of oats.

Rye was strong on a late rally, and soybeans were weak. Commission houses sold large amounts of beans, and demand was limited. A few stop loss selling orders were uncovered.

Outside markets were mostly easier. The range:

Market Closes Lower As Late Selling Develops

NEW YORK (UPI)— Stocks suffered their first decline in a week when, after a promising advance failed to generate any real demand, selling developed just before the close.

All leading groups closed slightly lower on average and, of a total 1,194 issues traded, 559 closed in lower ground while 411 were higher on the day.

Volume fell below even the low Friday turnover, totaling only 2,730,000 shares, compared with 2,790,000 and lightest since last Feb. 12.

American Telephone new stock, results of the three-for-one stock split, was the day's most actively traded. It held unchanged at 83⅜.

Electronics provided much of the day's interest and, despite late selling in the group, Zenith closed with a gain of 5¼ at 127¼ in second spot on the active list. It touched a new high of 130 at its best. International Business Machines, touched a high of 481 but closed at 460, off 10 points net. Motorola was down 3¼, Admiral 1⅞.

Camera issues also were in demand. Bell & Howell and Polaroid rose 3 or more, Eastman Kodak over a point.

Chicago Grains

At the close, wheat was off ⅛ to ¼; corn unchanged to up ½; oats off ⅛ to up ⅜; new oats unchanged to up ½; rye up ⅝ to ⅞; soybeans off ⅛ to 1.

Wheat prices were easier on some commission house liquidation. There was early hedge selling as well as local selling. Commission houses bought on the decline. Combines were reported operating in parts of Texas and Oklahoma.

Corn was easier. An elevator house broker and a floor trader sold July. There was fair commission house demand and some exporters bought. Planting neared completion in some areas, and soil conditions were reported favorable for growth. Export acceptances on subsidy bids were 920,000 bushels.

Oats were mixed, with some commercial support and scattered selling. Export subsidies were granted on 140,000 bushels of oats.

Rye was strong on a late rally, and soybeans were weak. Commission houses sold large amounts of beans, and demand was limited. A few stop loss selling orders were uncovered.

Outside markets were mostly easier.

Crippled Need Understanding, League Is Told

Medal Presented To Miss Schwarzenbach

"Marshalling people in support of our common interest is a more pressing need than of marshalling dollars," Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, Treasurer of the United States, said last night at a dinner marking the Silver Anniversary of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children at the Cumberland Country Club.

Dollars contributed to the National Society of Crippled Children and Adults and its affiliates, she said, do a tremendous lot of good as they are used to rehabilitate the disabled.

She said she had a ready answer to those who say, "What can we do?"

"We could begin," she said, "by treating crippled children and adults . . . with the consideration and understanding. . . due a fellow human being."

Nothing bolsters the self confidence more, she said, than being treated as just another human being, adding:

Is An Investment

"Every word of friendship, every act of kindness, every little deed that helps to tear down pernicious superstition that held a crippled person . . . is an investment and will be well awarded."

In an eloquent plea for understanding, Mrs. Priest pointed out we are all crippled in sight or speed if compared to the eagle or the greyhound.

"With the strengthening of their spirit," she said, "the spirit of America will grow strong, the radiance of their lives will reinforce the strength, the radiance that is the Good Life that is America."

The work of the League, she said, is a shining example of America in Action . . . a manifestation of the tradition that began with the first corn husking bee and log cabin raising.

She said the lot of the crippled in the past was a hard lot, always misunderstood, sometimes feared and often ridiculed.

Public prejudice against the crippled, she said, has been considerably diminished but still exists and must be combated.

Medal Is Presented

Mrs. Priest was introduced by U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall, who serves as vice president of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Miss Henrietta Schwarzenbach, president of the League since its founding, was presented a medal from the National Society of Crippled Children and Adults for her 25 years of service to crippled children.

The League also honored two of its favorite clinicians, Dr. George E. Bennett, Baltimore, past president of the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons, and Dr. George O. Eaton, also of Baltimore, also a past president of the Orthopedic academy and medical director of Children's Hospital School.

Dr. Bennett spoke for the surgeons who have participated in the program here in a reminiscing address.

John H. Mosner, treasurer, served as toastmaster, and J. William Hunt, secretary, was chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Praises Scenery

Mrs. Priest, who flew here from Washington by private plane and was scheduled to return after the program, is nationally known for her work in behalf of handicapped children. She served as national chairman of the Easter Seal program two years ago.

LaVale Awarded Federal Grant On Sewage Plan

Foley Announces $2,500 Survey Fund

Congressman John R. Foley said last night that approval of an advance of $2,500 to the LaVale Sanitary Commission for preliminary planning of sanitary sewerage has been announced by Commissioner John C. Hazeltine of the Communities Facilities Administration.

This is a federal grant, Mr. Foley explains for preliminary survey on a sewerage project estimated to cost somewhere in the vicinity of $600,000, with work tentatively projected for about 1961.

The Commissioner said that the lack of sewerage facilities in the district caused the State Board of Health to issue an order requiring the study be made to bring about adequate and necessary facilities.

This project is being assisted, Mr. Foley noted, under the Program of Advances for Public Works Planning authorized by the Housing Act of 1954, as amended. The program provides, he explains, interest-free advances for planning essential public works and communities facilities. Such advances are considered repayable on start of construction.

Harry Kauffman, a member of the LaVale Sanitary Commission, said last night that the commission, faced with the Board of Health order, sought this federal assistance, and it is the first step in having some comprehensive plan for the sewerage system created. Other members of the LaVale Commission are Chester A. Fisher and A. A. Vicker, who is succeeding William Claus. W. Earle Cobey is attorney to the commission.

Garrett County Recreation Areas To Open Saturday

Garrett County's summer recreation areas, Herrington Manor, New Germany, and the newest addition, Deep Creek Park, will open on Saturday.

However, the cottages at Herrington Manor and New Germany will not officially open for occupancy until a week later, June 13, William H. Johnson, district forester, said yesterday.

During the afternoon he conferred with three of the six life guards who have been appointed to safeguard the lives of bathers who will visit the swimming areas.

Three seniors who graduate this week from Allegany High School have been re-appointed. Robert Funk, Box 445, city, and Charles E. Wendt, Winchester Road, will be back on duty at Herrington Manor this season.

David Stone, of LaVale, who was life guard at New Germany, will assume duties at Herrington Manor. They will report for duty next Saturday.

Mr. Johnson said that James D. McKenzie, of Grantsville, will be life guard at New Germany. Two students at Frostburg State Teachers College, Robert Crowe, of Frostburg, and Charles Crowe, of Mt. Savage, will be lifeguards at Deep Creek Park.

Several other applicants are being screened for the position of life guard at New Germany, Mr. Johnson said. All the youths are qualified life guards and have a life saving certificate given by the Red Cross.

Mr. Johnson said that "good crowds" were at Herrington Manor and New Germany this past Sunday. He said finishing touches are being put on the Deep Creek Park.

Grass will be sown around the bath house this week and a temporary sandy beach will be put along the lake shore until a permanent beach is finished later on.

The access roads and water system have been completed although there are still some finishing touches to be done.

Subcommittee Expects Vote On Canal Bill

Chairman Pfost Foresees Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Interior Subcommittee began final consideration Monday of a bill to establish a national historical park along the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal.

Chairman Gracie Pfost (D-Idaho) said she hopes the subcommittee will be able to reach a vote Tuesday. She added a prediction that a bill of some sort will be approved by her group.

The Senate has passed a bill to establish the park along the canal from Washington to near Cumberland, Md., but considerable controversy developed in House hearings on the legislation.

Some backers of the park, including the National Park Service, have differed sharply with others regarding inclusion in a reservation for possible use of some of the land for a reservoir.

In addition to lands along the canal, the project would include a 25-mile scenic parkway on lands above the canal from Maryland 51 near Paw Paw, W. Va., to the Long Ridge Road near Woodmont, Md.

Rain Below Normal Here During May

Mean Temperature Up For Last Month

The month of May had below average rainfall while the temperature was above average for the month, according to figures kept by Robert R. Golden, official weather observer at Constitution Park.

Mr. Golden said 3.04 inches of rain fell here during May which is .35 inches below the normal of 3.39 inches. In May of last year, 4.48 inches of rain fell here.

All of the first five months of this year except April have had below normal precipiation with the exception of April. In April, 4.05 inches of rain fell while the average for the month is 2.88 inches. The average for the first five months is 14-10 inches and only 13.17 was recorded here this year for that period.

The other "below" months and the amounts below the normals were: January, .56 of an inch; February 63 of an inch; March, .56 of an inch.

The month of June got off to a good start as far as rain is concerned when a heavy thunder storm soaked the local area last night.

Dave Gunter Case Probed By Police

Restaurant Owner, Wife In Hospital

Dave Gunter, well-known area restauranteur, underwent surgery last evening at Garrett County Memorial Hospital in Oakland, and was reported in "critical" condition, state police said, from arm and leg wounds thought self-inflicted during a disturbance at his home on Deep Creek Lake.

His wife, Mrs. Marie Gunter, 47, underwent treatment for injuries she sustained when apparently attacked by her husband, was reported "good" last evening.

State Police Cpl. Samuel Conrad said Mr. Gunter had deep cuts of both wrists and one ankle, apparently inflicted with a bread knife, and lost a considerable amount of blood. Mrs. Gunter had severe head and face lacerations after being struck by a 10-inch wooden pepper mallet believed wielded by her husband in a sudden assault which occurred about 6:30 yesterday morning at the couple's trailer-house at McHenry.

Called To Trailer

Cpl. Conrad and representatives of the Garrett County sheriff's office were called to the Gunter trailer by a neighbor after Mrs. Gunter fled and called for help.

They said Mrs. Gunter apparently was asleep in her home when she was attacked and struck over the head with the wooden mallet. She wrested free and ran to a nearby house owned by Mark Saltzer, who called police.

When the authorities arrived they said they found Mr. Gunter lying in a pool of blood on the floor of his trailer. He was unconscious, they added.

Both Mr. Gunter and his wife were rushed to the hospital by ambulance and police said they were unable to talk much to either of them because of their injuries although they did question Mrs. Gunter briefly.

Operate Restaurant

The 65-year-old restauranteur and his wife operated a restaurant at McHenry for the past several months. Mr. Gunter formerly owned and operated Gunter's Restaurant in LaVale and previously operated a restaurant at Frostburg and a hotel and ski resort in Guntertown. He has been in the restaurant business most of his life.

The case is being investigated by Cpl. Conrad, Sheriff James Frantz and Deputy Sheriff Bruce Close.

W. Dwight Stover, state's attorney for Garrett County, has not indicated if charges will be preferred, pending the outcome of the investigation.

Accident Victim Is Still "Fair"

Raymond Henry Bonner, 46-year-old Salamanca, N.Y., man, who was struck by an automobile Sunday evening, is reported still in "fair" condition at Miners Hospital, Frostburg.

Tfc. Charles H. DeWitt, State Police, investigated the accident which occurred about 8:15 p.m. on U.S. Route 40, one and one-half miles west of Grantsville.

The state trooper said Bonner was hit by an automobile operated by Ulf Aass, 26, of Washington, D.C., as the man walked along the highway. He stated the car was traveling east when the driver applied his brakes and the vehicle swerved to the right of the road, hitting Bonner.

The victim has a fractured leg and severe head injuries, the state policeman said.

Crippled Need Understanding, League Is Told

Medal Presented To Miss Schwarzenbach

"Marshalling people in support of our common interest is a more pressing need than of marshalling dollars," Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, Treasurer of the United States, said last night at a dinner marking the Silver Anniversary of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children at the Cumberland Country Club.

Dollars contributed to the National Society of Crippled Children and Adults and its affiliates, she said, do a tremendous lot of good as they are used to rehabilitate the disabled.

But the parade of the crippled, she warned, cannot be uprooted and cured by trained technicians in isolation.

She said she had a ready answer to those who say, "What can we do?"

"We could begin," she said, "by treating crippled children and adults . . . with the consideration and understanding. . . due a fellow human being."

Nothing bolsters the self confidence more, she said, than being treated as just another human being, adding:

Is An Investment

"Every word of friendship, every act of kindness, every little deed that helps to tear down pernicious superstition that held a crippled person . . . is an investment and will be well awarded."

In an eloquent plea for understanding, Mrs. Priest pointed out we are all crippled in sight or speed if compared to the eagle or the greyhound.

Millions of crippled adults, she said, can be brought back to a life of usefulness, a life of service, of promise.

"With the strengthening of their spirit," she said, "the spirit of America will grow strong, the radiance of their lives will reinforce the strength, the radiance that is the Good Life that is America."

The work of the League, she said, is a shining example of America in Action . . . a manifestation of the tradition that began with the first corn husking bee and log cabin raising.

She said the lot of the crippled in the past was a hard lot, always misunderstood, sometimes feared and often ridiculed.

Public prejudice against the crippled, she said, has been considerably diminished but still exists and must be combated.

Medal Is Presented

Mrs. Priest was introduced by U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall, who serves as vice president of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Miss Henrietta Schwarzenbach, president of the League since its founding, was presented a medal from the National Society of Crippled Children and Adults for her 25 years of service to crippled children.

The League also honored two of its favorite clinicians, Dr. George E. Bennett, Baltimore, past president of the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons, and Dr. George O. Eaton, also of Baltimore, also a past president of the Orthopedic academy and medical director of Children's Hospital School.

Dr. Bennett spoke for the surgeons who have participated in the program here in a reminiscing address.

John H. Mosner, treasurer, served as toastmaster, and J. William Hunt, secretary, was chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Praises Scenery

Mrs. Priest, who flew here from Washington by private plane and was scheduled to return after the program, is nationally known for her work in behalf of handicapped children. She served as national chairman of the Easter Seal program two years ago.

LaVale Awarded Federal Grant On Sewage Plan

Foley Announces $2,500 Survey Fund

Congressman John R. Foley said last night that approval of an advance of $2,500 to the LaVale Sanitary Commission for preliminary planning of sanitary sewerage has been announced by Commissioner John C. Hazeltine of the Communities Facilities Administration.

This is a federal grant, Mr. Foley explains for preliminary survey on a sewerage project estimated to cost somewhere in the vicinity of $600,000, with work tentatively projected for about 1961.

The Commissioner said that the lack of sewerage facilities in the district caused the State Board of Health to issue an order requiring the study be made to bring about adequate and necessary facilities.

This project is being assisted, Mr. Foley noted, under the Program of Advances for Public Works Planning authorized by the Housing Act of 1954, as amended. The program provides, he explains, interest-free advances for planning essential public works and communities facilities. Such advances are considered repayable on start of construction.

Harry Kauffman, a member of the LaVale Sanitary Commission, said last night that the commission, faced with the Board of Health order, sought this federal assistance, and it is the first step in having some comprehensive plan for the sewerage system created. Other members of the LaVale Commission are Chester A. Fisher and A. A. Vicker, who is succeeding William Claus. W. Earle Cobey is attorney to the commission.

However, the cottages at Herrington Manor and New Germany will not officially open for occupancy until a week later, June 13, William H. Johnson, district forester, said yesterday.

During the afternoon he conferred with three of the six life guards who have been appointed to safeguard the lives of bathers who will visit the swimming areas.

Several other applicants are being screened for the position of life guard at New Germany, Mr. Johnson said. All the youths are qualified life guards and have a life saving certificate given by the Red Cross.

Mr. Johnson said that "good crowds" were at Herrington Manor and New Germany this past Sunday. He said finishing touches are being put on the Deep Creek Park.

Grass will be sown around the bath house this week and a temporary sandy beach will be put along the lake shore until a permanent beach is finished later on.

Subcommittee Expects Vote On Canal Bill

Chairman Pfost Foresees Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Interior Subcommittee began final consideration Monday of a bill to establish a national historical park along the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal.

Chairman Gracie Pfost (D-Idaho) said she hopes the subcommittee will be able to reach a vote Tuesday. She added a prediction that a bill of some sort will be approved by her group.

The Senate has passed a bill to establish the park along the canal from Washington to near Cumberland, Md., but considerable controversy developed in House hearings on the legislation.

Some backers of the park, including the National Park Service, have differed sharply with others regarding inclusion in a reservation for possible use of some of the land for a reservoir.

In addition to lands along the canal, the project would include a 25-mile scenic parkway on lands above the canal from Maryland 51 near Paw Paw, W. Va., to the Long Ridge Road near Woodmont, Md.

Dave Gunter Case Probed By Police

Restaurant Owner, Wife In Hospital

Dave Gunter, well-known area restauranteur, underwent surgery last evening at Garrett County Memorial Hospital in Oakland, and was reported in "critical" condition, state police said, from arm and leg wounds thought self-inflicted during a disturbance at his home on Deep Creek Lake.

His wife, Mrs. Marie Gunter, 47, underwent treatment for injuries she sustained when apparently attacked by her husband, was reported "good" last evening.

State Police Cpl. Samuel Conrad said Mr. Gunter had deep cuts of both wrists and one ankle, apparently inflicted with a bread knife, and lost a considerable amount of blood. Mrs. Gunter had severe head and face lacerations after being struck by a 10-inch wooden pepper mallet believed wielded by her husband in a sudden assault which occurred about 6:30 yesterday morning at the couple's trailer-house at McHenry.

Called To Trailer

Cpl. Conrad and representatives of the Garrett County sheriff's office were called to the Gunter trailer by a neighbor after Mrs. Gunter fled and called for help.

They said Mrs. Gunter apparently was asleep in her home when she was attacked and struck over the head with the wooden mallet. She wrested free and ran to a nearby house owned by Mark Saltzer, who called police.

When the authorities arrived they said they found Mr. Gunter lying in a pool of blood on the floor of his trailer. He was unconscious, they added.

Both Mr. Gunter and his wife were rushed to the hospital by ambulance and police said they were unable to talk much to either of them because of their injuries although they did question Mrs. Gunter briefly.

Operate Restaurant

The 65-year-old restauranteur and his wife operated a restaurant at McHenry for the past several months. Mr. Gunter formerly owned and operated Gunter's Restaurant in LaVale and previously operated a restaurant at Frostburg and a hotel and ski resort in Guntertown. He has been in the restaurant business most of his life.

W. Dwight Stover, state's attorney for Garrett County, has not indicated if charges will be preferred, pending the outcome of the investigation.
